Pius XI Unconscious 15 Minutes After Second Stroke

PONTIFF IS 81 Stricken While About to Leave His Private Apartment

London—(AP)—An Exchange Telegraph (British news agency) dispatch from Rome today said that Pope Pius had suffered a second stroke at 5:50 p. m. (10:50 a. m. C.S.T.) following his heart attack this morning.

The dispatch said the holy father was unconscious for about 15 minutes.

Vatican City—(AP)—Pope Pius suffered a serious heart attack this morning and oxygen was administered immediately after his collapse to overcome a difficulty in breathing.

This treatment was suspended, however, after the difficulty had been remedied. The Vatican announced officially that the holy father's condition was improving this afternoon.

Vatican attendants said tonight that the pope talked cheerfully with his doctors this afternoon.

They said he was attended only by two male nurses from 4:15 p. m. when his personal physician left the bedroom, until 7:05 p. m., when he returned.

This led reporters to discredit rumors that his holiness had suffered a second heart attack shortly before 6 p. m.

The 81-year-old pontiff was stricken suddenly as he was about to leave his private apartment for an official ante-chamber for his daily round of private audiences.

A Vatican medical bulletin described his illness as cardiac asthma. Another informant said it was myocarditis (inflammation of the muscular part of the wall of the heart).

"Slightly Better"

Secretaries who saw the pope overcome by dizziness immediately carried him to his room and put him to bed.

His holiness' personal physician, Dr. Amintore Milani, was summoned and remained with his patient until late in the afternoon.

On leaving the pope's bedside Milani said that the pontiff was "slightly better" and had been able to swallow some broth.

"I am optimistic," Milani said, "but all depends on the resistance of the holy father's heart." He added that another heart attack like that of this morning might be fatal.

The doctor went to an apartment near that of the pope and prepared to spend the night at the Vatican.

Cardinals and prelates, including Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago, who were to have been received in audience were informed of his illness when they arrived at the Vatican.

Cardinal Mundelein later left by automobile for Naples, intending to sail for the United States tomorrow on the Conte di Savoia. This was taken to indicate that the pope's condition was not considered cause for immediate alarm.

News of the attack spread rapidly. Cardinals in Rome and members of the diplomatic corps at the Holy See immediately began calling at the Vatican to inquire about the holy father's condition and express wishes for his speedy recovery.

The pontiff collapsed and sank to the floor when he was stricken, but members of his household said he remained conscious. As soon as he was in bed Dr. Filippo Rochi gave him an injection of adrenalin and digitalis.

Berlin—(AP)—Five German fliers were reported today to be planning to take off Monday on an attempted 9,000-mile non-stop flight from Berlin to Tokio.

It All Depends On the Viewpoint

"Colored lenses are risky," says the National Bureau of Standards, referring to tinted eye-glasses for auto drivers. Of course they are, and not only for motorists. It's a mistake to look at things through dark glasses, or through lenses that make everything appear blue or yellow. In fact, the best way is to scan the world, especially the business world, through the rosy outlook you get from The Post-Crescent classified want-ads. This one's view was brilliant and resultful:

Find Body of Stephen Mangold, Kaukauna, One of Four Missing Deer Hunters, in Turtle Flowage

The body of Stephen J. Mangold, 40, 902 Wilson street, Kaukauna, one of four deer hunters missing since Monday, was recovered today from the ice covered waters of the Turtle flowage, Iron county, southwest of Mercer, according to the Associated Press.

Findings of the hunter's body intensified efforts to locate the bodies of the others, Kaare Dreyer, 38, and C. C. Beiel, 40, both of Kaukauna, and Eddie Polachek, their guide from Park Falls. Mangold's body was found with his arms clasping the submerged trunk of a tree.

The party had gone hunting on a large island in the flowage Monday. Tuesday a search was started when they did not return to camp. Wednesday the searchers found the party's boat and a hunter's cap, the first definite indications of the fate of the missing men. CCC enrollees were enlisted in the search which was hampered because ice on the flowage was too thick for use of a boat and too thin to hold the weight of searchers.

It is believed the men shot a deer on the island Monday morning and that they returned to get it in the afternoon. There was evidence that a deer had been dragged to the water's edge.

Plan Confab in Chicago Strike

Both Sides to Confer Tomorrow With Federal Conciliators

Chicago—(AP)—Both sides in the handlers' strike at the Chicago stockyards prepared today for a mediation conference with federal conciliators tomorrow in an effort to settle the controversy.

Thanksgiving passed peacefully at the stockyards as groups of pickets representing the striking CIO Stock Handlers' union paraded alongside the nearly-empty pens. Only about 5,000 head of cattle, sheep and hogs shipped direct from stock growers to packers arrived during the day.

The federal conciliators resumed preliminary negotiations today in preparation for the conference tomorrow with representatives of the union and of the Union Stockyard and Transit company.

Today was the fourth day, excluding the holiday, that the strike has tied up the world's largest livestock market. The union demanded a 40-hour week, overtime pay, written contract, closed shop and the check-off. The company, spokesmen said, particularly opposes the check-off and closed shop.

Charles R. Rice, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange, an organization of commission merchants said the strike so far has had little effect upon the packers because they have the 60,000 head cleared from the pens by the commission men Tuesday. When they finish with that they "still will have the coolers to draw from," he added.

If no new stock arrives by Monday, Rice continued, thousands of packing house employees may find their work halted for lack of supplies.

Women and Children Ordered To Leave Town After Forest Fire Starts Menacing Area

Los Angeles—(AP)—Evacuation of women and children from Crestline, in the San Bernardino mountains, was begun today when a forest fire started sweeping toward the little town.

Meanwhile, on another fire front in Los Angeles county, a new menace arose on the ridge of a thickly populated canyon when an extensive backfire was whipped up suddenly by adverse winds. It threatened to send the fire down the main slope of Mandeville canyon, where there are many pretentious homes.

Crestline has about 400 all-year residents.

The San Bernardino fire, reported to be entirely out of control, placed in jeopardy the highly developed Crest forest district and its 4,000 cabins, residences, stores and hotels.

See Court Test For Emergency Board in Suit

Legal Battle May Center On Validity of Powers Over Finances

ACTION UP TO REIS?

Question Legislature's Right to Pass Powers To Special Body

Madison—(AP)—Constitutionality of the state emergency board, with the powers which it now has over state finances, may be the predominant issue in the impending court battle over the action of the LaFollette administration to pay $6,620,121 out of the general fund before its demise in January.

Governor LaFollette has appointed four special attorneys who will appear in Dane county circuit court tomorrow with a request that the court take steps to settle the financial controversy now waging between the outgoing Progressives and the incoming Republicans.

The transfer of more than $5,000,000 was voted in 10 separate items by the present emergency board consisting of Governor LaFollette and the senate and assembly chairmen of the joint legislative finance committee, both Progressives.

Republicans have attacked the board's action because it will reduce the treasury balance available to Governor-Elect Julius P. Heil.

Court Ruling Likely

Circuit Judge Alvin C. Reis probably will be called upon to decide whether the legislature has a legal right to give an emergency board authority to reduce or supplement the appropriations it makes.

The transfers approved by the present board, according to the governor, were authorized by the 1937 budget bill, with the provision that they could or could not be paid as the board saw fit.

Broker Beaten in Insurance Action

'Not Entitled to Recover' In Case Involving James Roosevelt

Boston—(AP)—In a legal battle over the commission on an $850,000 insurance policy in which James Roosevelt shared, a court-appointed auditor found today that a rival insurance broker was "not entitled to recover" in his suit against one of Boston's biggest banks.

Completing a five months' study of the evidence, Auditor F. Delano Putnam filed the final draft of his report this afternoon in superior court.

He handed Arthur D. Cronin the initial setback in his attempt to obtain $31,750, plus interest, which he claimed was due him despite the action of the National Shawmut bank in giving the lucrative policy to another insurance firm with which the president's eldest son was connected.

James Roosevelt replied recently in a magazine article to assertions that he had obtained large insurance accounts because of his prominence as a member of the nation's first family.

The auditor found that "one of the principal reasons" the bank did not accept the insurance proposal offered by Cronin was the "close, personal friendship" of a vice president of the bank for James Roosevelt.

Putnam emphasized that the banker's decision to "see to it" that Roosevelt shared in the commission was made "with no hope or expectation of favors to the defendant" (Roosevelt's father having in 1933 become president of the United States) and with no thought of repaying Roosevelt and Sargent for past favors done by them for the defendant.

WPA Worker Rescued From Mud-Hole After 16-Hour Captivity

Chicago—(AP)—Mike Digregorio, 47-year-old WPA worker, was reported in "fair" condition today at the Cook County hospital where he was taken yesterday after having been trapped in a mud-hole for 16 hours.

Digregorio was rescued by three young hunters and two deputy sheriffs after the youths had heard his feeble cries for help as they walked along the old Illinois-Michigan canal near Summit.

At the hospital, Digregorio told of his narrow escape from death. On his way home from work late Wednesday afternoon, he had taken a short cut through marshlands. Near the edge of the canal his feet sank into the clammy quagmire. As he struggled to gain firm footing he sank deeper. No one heard his cries and he remained trapped in the mud throughout the night, with the mire reaching his shoulders.

At 7 a. m. yesterday the hunters, Veto Radnisi, 15, and Edward Novak, 16, and his brother, Russell, 15, heard his cries for help. They summoned Deputy Sheriffs Harold Fandrey and Tony Kircnich.

State of Siege Is Threatened to End Strikes in France

Business Shows General Gains, Roosevelt Says

President Not Optimistic About Immediate Drop in Relief Rolls

Warm Springs, Ga.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today business conditions generally were showing increasing improvement.

He told a press conference, however, that while there was no question that employment had picked up, this did not necessarily mean relief rolls would drop in proportion immediately.

He pointed out that last spring a good many were out of work and there was no work for them because the relief appropriations did not employ at the low point anything like the number of persons who needed assistance.

The president talked to reporters as he sat behind the wheel of an open car on a dirt road in front of a press cottage. Mrs. Roosevelt stood beside the car, but got in the rear seat before the conference concluded.

Silent on Funds

The chief executive would give no hints as to the size of the relief appropriation for next year and the remaining four months of the current fiscal year. This will have to await his message to congress, he said.

Talking about business and employment, he said production in most industries was increasing faster than the re-employment of labor. This was one thing the administration has had to contend with right along, he said.

Explaining the population was increasing, he said if, for example, 30,000,000 persons were employed at the peak of 1937, today there would be several hundred thousand additional needing unemployment to make up for boys and girls coming of age.

His business comments were in response to inquiries concerning labor department reports showing 248,000 had been re-employed in manufacturing industries in October and 900,000 had been taken back into private employment in the last four months, with pay rolls up.

Family of 6 Perishes In Tenement House Fire

Amsterdam, N. Y.—(AP)—An entire family of six persons—a 27-year-old mother and five children—was burned fatally today in a tenement house fire during a heavy snowstorm.

The victims were Mrs. Carrie Derosa, a widow of five months, and Edward, 8; Dorothy, 8; Carl, 6; James, 3; and Michael, 2.

Fire Chief Matthew J. Kavanaugh said he believed the family was huddled around a portable oil stove in the living room of a small second-floor apartment when the heater exploded.

The father, James Derosa, was killed last July when he fell from a bridge on which he was working.

Former Green Bay Man Killed in Spanish War

Green Bay—(AP)—A report that John Cookson, 25, former Green Bay resident and University of Wisconsin graduate assistant in the physics department, was killed fighting with the loyalist forces in Spain, has been received here by his father, A. D. Cookson.

The unconfirmed account of the youth's death was made in The Volunteer for Liberty, publication of the International brigade in Spain. The publication stated Cookson was slain on the Ebro front during heavy fighting against the insurgents.

The elder Cookson said he had not heard from his son, who previously had been a regular correspondent, for several weeks.

Bolivian Government Proclaims State of Siege Through Nation

La Paz, Bolivia—(AP)—The government today proclaimed a state of siege—a form of martial law—throughout Bolivia.

The government issued the following announcement in explanation of its action:

"At dawn today in this city acts of rebellion against the legally constituted authorities were committed. It is the duty of the executive to safeguard and conserve public order. Therefore the council of ministers has decreed the invocation of the article declaring a state of siege throughout the republic."

A statement by the security police said a party of conspirators made an incursion early today in the barracks of a carabinieri regiment in La Paz and tried to induce the soldiers, with promises of large sums of money, to join a revolutionary movement.

The soldiers remained loyal, said the statement, and their officers seized some of the conspirators. Others who had been waiting outside the barracks were said to have fled.

Britain, France Warn Poland to Respect Border

Caution Against 'Danger' Of Invading Czechs' Territory

Paris—(AP)—The premiers of Great Britain and France warned Poland today against invading Czechoslovakia's eastern territory.

Alarmed by reports from their ambassadors in Warsaw and Prague, Prime Minister Chamberlain and Premier Daladier instructed their Warsaw representatives to caution the Polish government against the "danger of such action."

France and Britain, along with Germany and Italy, agreed in the Munich pact to guarantee the new frontiers of Czechoslovakia.

The statesmen, who last night concluded a virtual outright Anglo-French military alliance, were informed that Poland had massed 12 divisions of troops along the frontier of Ruthenia and that Czechoslovakia was sending heavy reinforcements to the eastern provinces.

If the tension continued, informed quarters said, Chamberlain and Daladier were agreed it might be necessary to call an immediate conference of the "Munich big four"—Chamberlain, Hitler, Premier Mussolini and themselves.

Would Back Hitler

If Germany moves to prevent Polish occupation of Ruthenia, which would give Poland a common frontier with Hungary, it was said France and Britain would back up Hitler.

Britain Will Not Deed Colonies to Germany

London—(AP)—Great Britain threw out another hint today that she was not prepared to deed African colonies to Germany.

The hint came from Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, of Prime Minister Chamberlain's "inner cabinet," who said in a speech at Cambridge last night:

"We hold the colonial possessions in trust, first for the inhabitants and secondly for the general good of the empire and the world."

He said, however, that Britain must cling to the aim of Anglo-German peace despite the "setback" caused by Germany's treatment of Jews.

In the house of commons, meanwhile, the opposition received assurances from Earl Winterton, a member of the cabinet, that the government would stand by the plan for providing Jews a national home in Palestine.

Daladier Orders 50,000 Guards, Gendarmes on Duty

MOVE GROWING

Report Premier Is Considering Arrest of Leon Blum

Paris—(AP)—The General Confederation of Labor tonight ordered all its allied unions, embracing 5,000,000 workers, to take part in a 24-hour general strike next Wednesday, Nov. 30, as a gesture of protest against Premier Daladier's labor program.

This coincided with a socialist party decision to demand the Daladier government's resignation and vigorous government measures to halt a wave of strikes in which workers occupied factories.

Several thousand Paris workers waiting for their suburban trains in Paris' north station showed the temper of labor by starting an anti-government demonstration with cries of "Daladier to the scaffold!"

A force of mobile guardsmen rushed to the station and cleared the platforms, forcing the demonstrators into the trains or out of the station and making a score of arrests.

Paris—(AP)—Premier Daladier summoned mobile guards and gendarmes today as a mounting wave of strikes against his government threatened to sweep over the nation.

With the strike roll nearing 100,000 and climbing hourly, he ordered 30,000 mobile guards and 20,000 gendarmes concentrated in the strike centers about Paris and in the non-strike areas.

Parliamentary deputies said Daladier, determined to crush the movement, was planning to decree a state of siege, similar to martial law, unless the strikes were mastered quickly.

Some deputies said they understood Daladier even considered the arrest of the former socialist premier, Leon Blum; Leon Jouhaux, General Confederation of Labor secretary, and Maurice Thorez, communist party secretary, along with dissolution of the communist and socialist parties.

Blum, through his newspaper Le Populaire, warned that France faced a "real social battle" whose consequences none can longer foresee.

Strikes In West

Estimates were that 45,000 strikers were out near Lille in the north and 40,000 in the Paris region. Strikes broke out early today in western factories.

Workers in metal factories, textile mills and chemical plants of Lille voted to quit tomorrow, refusing to do a half-day of work Saturday beyond the 40-hour work period.

Northern railroad hands, ordered back to their posts under government requisitioning of the lines, were prevented from resuming service by striking miners who occupied railway stations at the Anzin and Bruay mines.

Strikers also held the Renault automobile factory plant on Seguin island in the Seine. Police and mobile guards patrolled approaches to the plant but did not storm it.

40 Policemen Wounded

Mobile guards with loaded carbines guarded railway stations and power plants in the north.

Authorities said 40 policemen and police officers were wounded in last night's battle at the main Renault plant in Paris, the first clash of the strike wave.

Continued arrests of strikers and demonstrators brought the total jailed in the Paris region since yesterday to 290. All were accused of resisting officers of the law.

Police early today forced 600 strikers out of the Bloch airplane factory at Orly and said they had ousted striking workers from 16 other metallurgical plants in the Nord department.

The premier assumed the ministry of interior, giving him direct control of the nation's police. As minister of war and national defense he already controlled the army.

Hungarian Regent Must Appoint New Premier

Budapest—(AP)—Political demonstrations with occasional window smashings began in Budapest today as the Hungarian regent, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, sought a premier to succeed Bela Imredy, who resigned Wednesday.

Sidewalks were littered with leaflets as rightists, leftists and anti-Semitic groups made the most of the political confusion.

Police carried rifles, and riot squads followed the processions around town but interfered only when the demonstrators became disorderly.

Imredy quit because of criticism that he failed to get Czechoslovakia to cede Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) to Hungary. Admiral Horthy yesterday adjourned parliament for one week while he endeavored to get a new government.

Dies Wants Ickes, Perkins, Hopkins To Resign Posts

Says Action Would 'Restore Confidence to Government'

Washington —(AP)—Representative Dies (D-Texas), continuing his feud with Secretary Ickes, proposed today that the interior department head—along with Secretary Perkins and WPA Administrator Hopkins—should resign and thus "restore confidence to government."

"It is a consummation devoutly desired by the overwhelming majority of Democrats," said Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities.

Citizens cannot feel secure, he declared, while "crackpots" are in high federal positions.

Dies' statement was issued in reply to a press conference remarks by Ickes Wednesday that the Texas representative was the world's outstanding "zany," and that testimony before his committee was "garbage."

The two men have been at odds since Ickes first criticized the inquiry a few weeks ago. Dies and Secretary Perkins also have been arguing over the latter's conduct of the Harry Bridges deportation case.

May Promote Hopkins

There have been unconfirmed reports in Washington that Hopkins might be promoted soon to a cabinet post. In such a case, some senators have said there would be an inquiry into a statement purported to have been made by Hopkins while discussing governmental affairs recently:

"We will spend and spend, 'tax and tax, elect and elect.'"

Hopkins wrote the New York Times declaring he never had made such a statement and adding, "there is no basis in fact for such a quotation."

The sentence had been quoted in a recent article by Arthur Kroeber, Washington correspondent of the Times, who said in a reply to Hopkins' letter that he had repeated it only after he had ascertained that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said that whether or not Hopkins made the remark, "it is not surprising it was accepted as true, because it was so appropriate . . . and fits in so well with the practice."

Senator Herring (D-Iowa) commented:

"Personally I doubt very much if he made the statement. I can't believe he would say a thing like that."

U. S. Naval Aircraft Improved During 1938

Washington —(AP)—Naval aircraft "continuously improved" during the last year, in the opinion of the navy's aeronautics chief, who coupled with this report today a plea that more money be spent to keep America's strength up with other countries.

Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, reporting to Secretary Swanson, declared:

"Improvements in the United States are accompanied and paralleled by improvements in European countries in which no restraint on expenditures for military development is evident."

"If the United States is not to be relegated to a comparatively inferior position in world aircraft, liberal allocation of funds must be made to permit intelligently-directed experimental projects to be pursued actively."

Finds an Emblem in France; Learns It Was Lost in Brooklyn

Decatur, Ill. —(AP)—A Masonic emblem, found on a battlefield of France 20 years ago, has been returned to its owner—who never had been in France.

The emblem, which came into the possession of Charles M. Borchers of Decatur, bore the inscription of the Brooklyn, N. Y., chapter. The chapter found the owner who said, in a letter to Borchers, he lost it 20 years ago—not in France, but in Brooklyn.

Dismiss Complaint of Negro Forced to Leave Pullman Car

Washington —(AP)—The interstate commerce commission dismissed today a complaint by Arthur W. Mitchell, Negro congressman from Illinois, that the Rock Island railroad required him to leave a Pullman car in Arkansas and travel in a coach inferior to the Pullman.

Commissioners Eastman, Lee, Miller, Atchison and Porter dissented.

Bitchell charged that he was traveling from Chicago to Hot Springs, Ark. on April 20, 1937, and that the conductor on the train required him to change cars when the train entered Arkansas. The railroad declared segregation of races was required by Arkansas law.

Mitchell contended that the law required "equal but separate accommodations" for both races and that the Negro accommodations were unsatisfactory.

"It is not for us to enforce the state law," the commission's decision said. "We understand that to be a matter for state authorities. But in deciding the case on the facts presented we must recognize that under the state law defend-

Damage of about $1,000 was caused by a fire in the basement of the Ed Van Vonderen home, 330 W. Brewster street, about 6:30 this morning. The fire is believed to have started from some hot ashes. The blaze burned up through the partitions and to the first floor. Firemen quickly brought the fire under control.

Willkie Wants Square Deal in TVA Controversy

Lawrence Says Deadlock Blocking Big Spending Program

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Wendell Willkie should have been a senator or a governor or a pioneer of humane causes. He certainly does not even approximate the popular conception of a horrible utility man whose one purpose in life is to bamboozle investors or keep electric light rates away out of line.

For Mr. Willkie, testifying before the congressional committee investigating the TVA, dealt some forthright blows. He put before congress, and incidentally the whole country, an issue of fair and square dealing which the arbitrary-minded here who have been riding high, wide and handsome with governmental authority will not find it easy to answer.

If the country wants public ownership, all right, says Mr. Willkie, let the country have it, but let somebody set a fair price for the private properties and buy the securities at a fair value.

If there's doubt as to who should fix the value, let the securities and exchange commission—a New Deal creation—fix the value, and Mr. Willkie says he will abide by it.

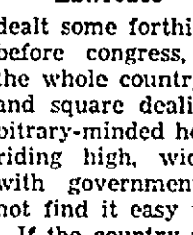

Asks Square Deal
But, if the American people want private enterprise to run the utilities subject to rigid regulation, then let the private utilities have a square deal.

Now, the utility controversy is a complex affair, but nevertheless, its issues can be reduced to simple form. If the returns from the last elections mean what so many people say they mean, they represent a mandate to the New Deal to cease being arbitrary about some of its policies and adopt a reasonable attitude toward those who may disagree with their economic concepts.

For the New Deal, while right and justified in its protest against financial wizardry and manipulation by holding companies, is far from right in sabotaging private utility properties by a scheme of subsidizing municipalities with grants from the PWA. These are outright gifts of 45 per cent of the money with which to build competing plants.

Can Force Rates Down
The ostensible excuse is to bring lower electric light rates, and one man—Mr. Ickes—is to decide when rates are low enough to abandon the competitive threat. Anybody can force the rates for electric light below the point where private companies can compete if he has the right to introduce a subsidy for 45 per cent of the electric light plant's cost and if hardly any taxes have to be paid. There isn't a business in the United States which could compete with the government when the bulk of the taxes are cancelled and when the government furnishes much of the capital free.

The American people do not like many of the things the utility companies have done, but this does not mean the public will countenance a new wrong in the form of subsidized competition. Today, the abuses of the utility problem growing out of bad financing are supposed to be corrected by the securities and exchange law. Holding companies are now permissible or forbidden according to the dictates of the SEC. Rates are regulated by

Reports Indicate New Deer Hunting Records May be Set

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—For the benefit of those Wisconsin nimrods who are returning this week with or without their quarry, the state conservation department today offered some information on what is a large deer and on record specimens bagged in Wisconsin.

The department reports that the biggest authenticated specimen ever killed was shot in 1890 in New York. It weighed 388 pounds live weight.

However, unless some Wisconsin hunters are boasting or exaggerating in their reports to the state conservation department, this record has frequently been almost equaled and even exceeded.

During the 1937 season 36 Wisconsin hunters assured the department that their buck weighed more than 300 pounds. One, claimed by John Pohl of Ashland, weighed 301 pounds dressed, the equivalent of 384 pounds alive.

Tops All Claims
However, it remained for one of the conservation department's own men to top all claims. The record deer shot in 1924 by Robert Hogue, a conservation forest ranger at Hayward, weighed 386 pounds dressed. By usual calculations a deer loses one fifth of its weight in dressing.

Another record cited by the department is that held by Homer Pearson of Almena, who said he shot a buck which weighed only 213 pounds, but that it had a record set of antlers carrying 36 points of one inch or more and 103 points at least three eighths of an inch.

The conservation department observed that records so far obtained are dependent on the accuracy of the hunters, who are humanly prone to be optimists during the deer season, and asked: "If you kill a big buck this season be sure to weigh it accurately with witnesses and send in your report."

Want Higher Base Pay in Paper Mills

Seek Appointment of Committee to Set New Minimum Wage

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Representatives of both employers and employees in Wisconsin paper and pulp mills are urging wages-hours Administrator Elmer F. Andrews to appoint an industry committee to establish a higher legal minimum wage for workers than the 25-cent-an-hour minimum set in the law.

Under the law, 25 cents an hour is the absolute minimum wage in interstate commerce, but a higher minimum, up to 40 cents an hour, may be established by the administrator after investigation and hearings by an industry committee.

The administrator may not modify the recommendations of the industry committee, but may accept or reject them, or may refer them back to the same committee for further study, or appoint a new committee.

The industry committees represent all branches of the industry, both workers and employers.

Both workers and employers in the boot and shoe industry were among the first to seek an industry committee, but it is not likely that this committee will be appointed until around the first of the year, when the shoe industry is more active.

Isador Lubin, United States commissioner of labor statistics, is preparing preliminary information for the expected boot and shoe industry committee, however, Andrews said.

Monopoly Quiz Is About to Begin

Federal Committee Wants To Learn What Makes Industry Tick

Washington —(AP)—The federal committee organized to investigate monopoly wants to find out first what makes American industry tick and how well the machinery is working.

The committee, composed of congressmen and government officials, will start public hearings next Thursday. It first will receive testimony on such general topics as production and distribution, unemployment and national income.

Members said the early testimony would give the committee a well rounded background picture of industry and how effectively it has performed in various stages of its growth.

"The testimony," said Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), the chairman, "will not be a recital of opinions. It will be a recital of facts."

To gather the facts, the committee has called a group of top-flight government experts. Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, will be the first witness.

The investigators will continue hearings three weeks before adjourning for the Christmas holidays. After the preliminary general statements, the committee has voted to consider the "use, distribution and pooling of patents" in the automobile and glass industries.

Aides said the latter study would be designed to show whether the use of patents by the two industries had affected the national economy favorably or unfavorably. Testimony will be presented by justice department officials and other witnesses whom the department will call.

Dog Rescued at Foot Of American Falls

Niagara Falls, N. Y. —(AP)—A cocker spaniel stranded in Niagara gorge at the foot of the American falls was rescued unharmed yesterday, while officials puzzled over how the dog arrived at the spot.

They guessed the spaniel had either been carried over the falls or had fallen down the towering cliff.

After 20 hours of intermittent rescue attempts, the animal was coaxed into the window of a covered sightseeing stairway.

paring preliminary information for the expected boot and shoe industry committee, however, Andrews said.

Roosevelt Again Raps Policies of Dictator Powers

Comment on Eddie Cantor's Telegram Implies Rebuke

Warm Springs, Ga. —(AP)—Through the medium of a Thanksgiving telegram, President Roosevelt was on record again today — at least by implication — in opposition to policies of dictator nations.

Departing from an otherwise perfunctory address at a holiday dinner last night, the chief executive read a telegram — one of many greetings — from Eddie Cantor, the actor, as follows:

"May you and yours have a happy Thanksgiving. I am thankful I can live in a country where all leaders can sit down on Thanksgiving day and carve up a turkey instead of a map."

The message, the president remarked before reading it over coast-to-coast radio channels, "gives me a thought we can all think over."

The president spoke at the annual founder's day banquet of the Warm Springs Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Mrs. Roosevelt sat beside him as he recounted to the 800 crippled patients and their families, and the Foundation staff, progress of the health colony he established here a dozen years ago.

Tips Off Reporters
The advance text given to correspondents had contained no hint of foreign affairs. It was not until Mr. Roosevelt reached an ante room to Georgia hall, where he spoke in the huge combination dining-assembly room, that it became known he had decided to amplify his talk. He called a reporter over and tipped him off to watch closely at the conclusion of his address.

The president referred to Cantor as "an old friend." The motion picture-radio entertainer has been a leader in raising funds for use in combating infantile paralysis by means of the annual Roosevelt birthday balls.

The president at the end of the dinner, interspersed with stunts by young patients in wheel chairs and rolling beds, made another brief talk in which he spoke of the "determination and courage" of those making comebacks from a disease he conquered years ago himself.

He said he hoped, after his fifty-seventh birthday Jan. 30, to have permanent chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis set up in every county of the land.

Under a change in financial arrangements, he said half of all funds raised in each county would be retained in trust for the chapters for local use, the other half going to the foundation for the national campaigns of research.

Husband of Poisoner Is Granted Divorce

Madison —(AP)—Superior Judge Roy H. Proctor has granted John C. Peters, 41, of Madison, a divorce from Mrs. Florence Peters, 38, formerly of Waunakee, who is serving a life sentence in the state prison at Taycheedah on a charge she killed her first husband, Henry Kesenich, with poison eight years ago.

Peters obtained the divorce and custody of their two children, William and Catherine, on grounds of adultery, cruel and inhuman treatment in the decree issued last Wednesday. Custody of a daughter of Mrs. Peters by her first husband also was awarded to Peters.

Mrs. Peters admitted at her trial here that she also had attempted to poison Peters.

Japan Signs Cultural Accord With Germany but Agreement Won't Mean Attack on Jews

Tokio —(AP)—The Japanese and German governments signed an accord on cultural cooperation today, the foreign office spokesman said, "the agreement does not mean that Japan is going to persecute Jews."

The accord recognizes the respective "racial principles" of the two countries (nazi culture is built upon a thesis of a pure German race). Many Jews in Japan, a large number of them teachers, had expressed apprehension.

The foreign office spokesman, answering questions as to whether Japan could subscribe to the "characteristic features" of German culture without embarking upon a program of anti-Semitism similar to that in Germany, said Jews attached to schools would not be asked to resign.

Specifically, he stated, "the agreement does not mean that Japan is going to persecute Jews."

Details are to be determined later but the practical phases of the agreement are for cooperation among youth groups, an exchange of professors, students, books, periodicals, objects of art, films and radio broadcasts.

Committees for cultural work are to be established. A statement explaining the pact declared it "clearly affirms in the preamble that the characteristic features of both countries shall be the basis of future cooperation."

The pact was concluded at the instance of the German government, the foreign office spokesman asserted.

Texan, Age 25, to Be 'Baby' of House

L. G. Beckworth Will Become Youngest Member of Congress

Washington —(AP)—Lindley G. Beckworth, 25-year-old state Texas orator, will be the baby of the new congress and the youngest house member in recent years.

The election of Beckworth and several other relatively youthful newcomers in both houses emphasized what veteran capital employees called a trend toward younger congressmen.

The youngest members of the last session were representatives Boren (D-Okla.) and O'Connell (D-Mont.) Both were 27 when they took office. Two years ago Boren will be back, but O'Connell was defeated for re-election.

Among the younger new members will be 31-year-old Robert F. Jones, Republican, who will represent Ohio's fourth district. Reared on a farm, Jones took up law and entered politics shortly after graduation from college.

Beckworth, a former school teacher, unsent Rep. Morgan G. Saunders, a veteran of 18 years in the house, in the Democratic primaries. He has served one term in the Texas legislature.

The dean of the present congress, Senator Sheppard, also is a Texas Democrat. He was 27 when he began service as a house member 36 years ago.

The constitution requires that representatives be 25 years old and senators 30. Clarence L. McLeod, a Detroit Republican, was elected to the house in 1920 when he was just 25 years old, and claimed to be the youngest man ever to win a seat in congress. He will be back next year.

The youngest senator is Rush Holt (D-W. Va.), who was not seated until he reached his thirtieth birthday in June, 1935—five months after his election.

Form Company to Sell Chemicals

Lindberg, Comee in Organization With Warehouse at Neenah

Eric D. Lindberg, formerly secretary and general manager of the Patten Paper Co., and W. C. Comee, Jr., formerly sales manager for the Northern Chemical Co., have organized The Chemical Supply Co., and have established a warehouse and office at 305 Railroad street in Neenah.

The new company will stock industrial chemicals and supplies for papermills and other industries. It is said to have the only chemical warehouse north of Milwaukee. The company expects to have its own trucks for delivery of materials to industries in the Fox and Wisconsin river valleys.

Fond du Lac Board to Vote on New Highway

Fond du Lac —(AP)—The Fond du Lac county board will make a final decision tomorrow on proposed participation in construction of a $1,000,000 super-highway through Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties.

Supervisors favoring the proposal barely were able to stave off tabling of the state highway commission's recommendations after two hours of argument Wednesday. A motion to table lost, 27 to 26.

Launch Campaign For Provisions to Fill Yule Baskets

Committee Appeals to Civic, Social, Church, Fraternal Groups

Kaukauna—The campaign of the Christmas cheer committee to raise funds and supplies to fill the baskets annually distributed to the city's less fortunate families began this week as letters asking for contributions were mailed to all civic, social, fraternal and church organizations. Last year the committee distributed 128 baskets in Kaukauna, and the response from the various groups will determine the number to be sent out this Christmas.

Mrs. Walter Specht is chairman of the committee for the fourth year, with Miss Blanche Gerend secretary-treasurer. Assisting them are Mrs. L. F. Nelson, Mrs. Anna Schubring, Mrs. Hugo Weisenbach, Mrs. Ben Ives, Mrs. Theodore Nytes, Mrs. M. J. Verfurth and Miss Cell Flynn.

Distribution Dec. 23

This year the baskets will be distributed on Friday evening, Dec. 23. On Friday afternoon committee workers will fill the baskets at the municipal building.

Frank Mitchell, Lloyd Romane-sko, Richard Conrad and Joseph Hurst are in charge of collecting toys for inclusion in the baskets. Persons having toys they wish to contribute are asked to get in touch with any of these, who will call for them. At the Kaukauna Vocational school necessary repairs will be made and the toys repainted.

Both the Rialto and Vaudeville theaters will hold matinees to aid in collecting supplies for the baskets. The Rialto show will be held on Thursday, Dec. 15. Manager Reuben Rosenblatt has announced, with canned goods, toys or money contributions accepted as admission. The welfare committee of the Kaukauna Federated Women's club will see that the proceeds are turned over to the good cheer committee.

Neenah Ranks as Favorite to Beat Kaukauna Tonight

Kaukauna Cagers to Open Season Against Veteran Team

Kaukauna—Kaukauna fans will have their first glimpse of Coach Paul E. Little's 1938 basketball five this evening when the Kaws battle Neenah here in their opening game. The main fray is slated for 8 o'clock, with B teams of the two schools meeting at 7 in a preliminary battle.

Last year the Kaws did not swing into action until almost two weeks later, and they will go into tonight's game with only six practice sessions behind them. In a scrimmage Wednesday afternoon against former high school stars the Kaws showed flashes of offensive power, outscoring their opponents, but were only fair when on the defensive.

With Neenah a heavy favorite to night Little probably will use most of his varsity squad in order to get a line on their abilities for the rest of the season. Only two veterans from last year, Carl Giordana at guard and Bill Alger at center, will be in the starting five. Both are sophomores. Three juniors complete the probable starting lineup, Joe Bloch and Don Eisel at forwards and Junior Swedberg at the other guard. Reserves due for action are Bob Deros, Bill Tessein, Ken Busse, Cliff Kalista, Lee Cooper, Andy Meitner, James Sanders and Paul Koch.

Depend on Offense

Most of the practice sessions so far have been devoted to offensive drills. With Alger the only really tall man on the team the Kaws will be at a defensive disadvantage most of the time, and their chief hope for victories seems to lie in a fast team which will keep up a steady fire at the enemy hoop.

For the B squad game, the probable Kaukauna lineup will have Bob Danner and Bill Stanelle at guards, John Wandell at center and George Steffens and Vic Busse at the forward posts. Here again every player in a suit is likely to see action.

Bridge Club Meets at G. M. LaCroix Dwelling

Shiocton—The Ladies Bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. G. M. LaCroix Tuesday evening. Mrs. Clark Wilcox received the honors and also the carrying prize. Miss Clara Fisher was awarded the consolation gift. Mrs. Earl Kuether will be hostess to the club at her home next Wednesday.

Mrs. Ernest Henry of Nichols spent Tuesday in the village with relatives.

Dr. G. M. LaCroix and Harold Anthony returned from the north Tuesday each bringing home a deer. Jake Scott also returned home Tuesday with his deer.

On Opening Up a New World

The movement which began after Munich to appease Nazi Germany by delivering an African empire to Hitler has for the time being run upon insurmountable obstacles. After the demonstration of the last two weeks as to how the victorious Nazis mean to behave, it would now be morally impossible to obtain the consent of Parliament or of the French Chamber to a surrender of colonies. And it would be equally impossible to suggest that the Belgians or the Portuguese should make the sacrifices.

But even before the current terrorism within the Reich, the opinion has been developing that the mere handing over of African colonies to Germany would create more problems than it can possibly solve. For there is no place in Africa where a Nazi empire can be immeasurably the problem of British, French and even American defense. To return former German colonies in central Africa would mean that France, which now holds her African empire with small detachments of troops, would have to augment greatly her whole military system. It would mean that Great Britain, which can no longer count on the security of the Mediterranean highway to the East, would have to take far-reaching measures to make secure the other highway around the Cape of Good Hope. And it would mean that the United States, committed now as always to the defense of the hemisphere, would find Nazi Germany a naval power in the vicinity of South America.

Therefore, until there is a moral disarmament within Germany, the return of colonies would not be an appeasement, but a strategic disaster requiring even greater military preparations than those which now burden mankind.

Surplus Population Is Great European Problem

But while it is clear that the mere return of the former German colonies is not the solution of any problem, it is also clearer than ever that there is a colonial problem in which not only Germany but all of Europe are deeply concerned. The plight of the German Jews dramatizes the grave misunderstanding of the problem to think that the only question is how to find a refuge for a tormented minority, or that even this problem can be solved by removing a half million Jews from the Reich. If any one doubts that this is not the problem let him look to Poland, where the Poles are beginning to ask whether the great powers are going to assist Hitler by caring for his victims while they fail to provide an outlet for the surplus population of a nation that does not resort to such violence.

The question raised by the Poles goes to the heart of the real problem. It is at bottom the problem of European emigration, and to think about it all we must fix clearly in mind its main elements. Between 1800 and the World War the population of Europe increased from 180,000,000 to 480,000,000. During that period of a little more than a century about 60,000,000 Europeans migrated to other continents, and of these about half migrated to the United States.

This great intercontinental migration was abruptly reduced in the post-war decade. Whereas 1,000,000 Europeans had been emigrating each year before the war, the number was reduced to less than 300,000 a year. But these figures do not Brillion—Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Klein entertained at a 6:30 dinner at their home Tuesday evening in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mull of Maribel, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Ross and family of Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Olp and family of Potter, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Ross of Minneapolis, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klein, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross and Mr. and Mrs. Aldore Ross.

"Authors and Their Poems" was and within the crowded nations of Europe.

In the seventeenth century a migration of this sort was organized by chartered companies under the patronage of royalty, and the colonists who moved overseas were men and women who had suffered in the Old World and were prepared to endure hardship in the New World. An organized migration of the same sort will have to be undertaken. It is wisely planned and well managed and firmly disciplined, the money invested in the undertaking will be repaid many times over by the riches that are waiting to be created, and the effort and trouble will be repaid in full measure out of the good will and the sense of increasing security that the prospect of a new world would give to Europe.

Canada's Future Is Brigher Than Any Other Nation

Babson Sees Dominion as Future Center of British Empire

BY ROGER BABSON
Albany, N. Y.—Canada has the brightest future of any nation in the world today. She is already the fastest growing of the larger nations as far as population is concerned. Few people realize that her business in 1937 set new all-time highs, surpassing even the 1929 peaks. Today, Canadian business is only 15 per cent below the top and is rising vigorously. Meanwhile, each succeeding wave of unrest that fans out across Europe makes her prospects look even brighter.

"It is an ill-wind that blows nobody good" is trite but true. The unfortunate Jews of Germany are getting a horrible mauling, but their plight is actually a bullish factor in Canada's outlook. It becomes increasingly apparent that England must be prepared to fight aggressor nations such as Germany and Italy. Mind you, I am not predicting war; but the best guarantee of the future peace of Europe is a Great Britain fully armed.

England Changing
While indignation against Fascism rages white hot throughout democratic nations, Canada stands to benefit? Why? Because England must have a safe deposit box for her reserves. In a war between England and France against Germany, the allies would eventually win. In the meantime, however, Herr Hitler's air-raiders would be busy in England and France. The bombing plane is the most deadly weapon of warfare that has ever been devised. There is as yet no adequate defense against it. It would level such cities as London, Manchester, and Liverpool. England knows this and is protecting herself against it in the only possible way: By decentralization of cities, of industries, and of food supplies.

Few realize it, but the bombing plane will actually revolutionize English civilization. People are moving into the country. They are building modest homes in wooded glens. Factories are being erected in the country, camouflaged and hidden by trees. Duplicate sets of books are being kept by British firms—one in the city and one in a secret hiding place in the country. If the city offices' records are destroyed, there will be a duplicate set in the rural hideaway. But even such drastic measures as these are just makeshift safeguards against the bombing plane.

England's Storm-Cellar
Hence, Britain is looking across the sea to Canada. North America is practically immune to bombing attacks provided an enemy cannot establish an air-base on this side of the Atlantic. Canada is in the geographical center of the empire. Therefore, it is only logical that England should look to Canada as the storm-cellar for her reserves. For instance, the government is already shifting her aviation manufacturing activities to the new world. It is reported that England is now investing $100,000,000 in Canadian aviation plants. Hence, I look for the nerve center of the empire to shift across the Atlantic. The coming visit of the king and queen is another step in the program. Then should come a constant flow of English capital into Canada. Tremendous reserves of foods, minerals, and munitions can be built up in Canada, where they will be safe from the ravages of the bombing plane and yet ready for use by the old country during any death struggle with Russia, Italy, or Germany. The formal government seat or the king and queen's palace may never be moved to Canada, but the industrial and financial nerve center may well cross the sea.

Many Possibilities
Canada is a young country. She has untold natural resources. Her mineral deposits are mammoth. She has added waterpower. Her forests are almost limitless. She has millions of fertile farm acres. The only three things she needs more of are: (1) Character, (2) Money, and (3) Men. That is why the surface of her possibilities has hardly been scratched. Yet, despite this, Canada's progress has been phenomenal. The growth line of her business is rising at the rate of over two per cent each year. Activity today in Canada is double the level of 25 years ago, while United States business is up only 50 per cent.

Canada's population has more than doubled since 1900. Her industries have been transformed from back-yard shops to efficient modern plants. Her steel, building, and petroleum businesses are thriving, while her mining industry has mushroomed up overnight. Moreover, the splendid future of Canada has not been marred by bad government. There are a few sore spots here and there, such as Alberta's ill-fated social credit. Her nationally-owned rail system is a heavy burden. On the whole, however, she has had good, sane, commonsense government. There is every reason for optimism.

Meaning to U. S.
What does all this mean to citizens of the United States? Briefly, it means better business, more jobs, higher wages. There are not two countries in the world which are closer knit economically than the United States and Canada. The dominion's business cannot grow without boosting business in the United States and vice-versa. This is why the new reciprocity tariff—announced last week—should be of mutual benefits to both nations as a whole, although it hurts certain communities. Canada's bullish outlook should mean some good investment opportunities in the securities of Canadian banking, industrial, and utility concerns. They should give American investors an anchor to the windward from the unsound trends in the United States.

BEETS SHOW VIGOR AND SIZE FROM PROPER FERTILIZING

Most important of all right now, the British movement to Canada means greater protection for both United States and Canadian citizens against foreign aggression. Here is a unique case in modern history where a stronger neighbor means a better ally rather than a worse enemy!

Proper Selection Of Breeding Stock Lowers Death Rate

Animals can inherit susceptibility to bacterial disease and they can just as certainly inherit resistance to bacterial disease.

That's what geneticists say who have been checking on the way one generation passes on or fails to pass on certain traits or tendencies to the next, according to a bulletin received by R. C. Swanson, Outagamie county agent.

Now they are telling poultrymen that breeding flocks can possibly be built up which will pass on resistance to such disease as bacillary white diarrhea and fowl typhoid from one generation to another. They are basing their claims on research work done at Wisconsin and other agricultural experiment stations.

M. R. Irwin, Wisconsin geneticist, recently reminded a group of medical men that, while other methods of disease control such as prevention and immunization are of more practical value at the present time, selection of breeding stock through five generations has resulted in the reduction of death losses in poultry due to fowl typhoid from 85 and 90 per cent down to 9 per cent.

Irwin cites work done at the Wisconsin station in which rabbits were infected with an organism causing contagious abortion in swine. By selection, it was possible to increase the number of rabbits resistant to the disease in each succeeding generation.

In common with other geneticists, Irwin has found that inheritance of resistance to one disease does not mean that the animal will be resistant to another. For example, resistance to fowl typhoid is regarded as quite different from resistance to bacillary white diarrhea. Resistance to one, it is said, does not mean resistance to the other.

first cut with a mower and allowed to dry in the swath or windrow before harvesting, according to College of Agriculture experiments.

Experiments were made by F. W. Duffee, H. D. Bruhn and B. D. Leith during the wet harvesting season of 1938. About 700 of the new combines have been sold in the state during the last two years, they report.

The Wisconsin Cheese Makers' association, state department of agriculture and markets and the Wisconsin Agricultural authority are cooperating in a "cheese for Christmas" program this year. Wisconsin cheese will be done up in attractive Christmas packages suitable for gifts.

On one side of the special package will be a picture of Santa Claus, and on the other will be a space for the name of the giver and name and address of the person for whom the gift is intended. The special package will hold a 21-pound loaf of cheese.

These Christmas gift packs of cheese will be shipped direct to any part of the United States, and the department of agriculture already has received a number of inquiries about them.

ON WITH THE DEBT STRUCTURE!

The President is by no means squelched in respect to his financial ideas.

Down at Warm Springs, Georgia, where he has gone for a rest Mr. Roosevelt gave an interview advising Georgians to amend their constitution so the state can go into debt faster and deeper.

Georgia has a constitutional provision somewhat upon the Wisconsin order. The state is prohibited from borrowing excepting to a very limited extent for emergencies, a matter of a few hundred thousand dollars instead of the several hundred million that might be plastered upon the statehouse if the men with the correct vision of the future sat in the chairs of authority.

But looking the country over we find that states with such constitutional provisions ordinarily have the least poverty, generally have the highest employment. There must be something screwy with the picture because the President certainly should know his groceries too well to advise Georgia to take the slippery path to further misery.

Even a cultured gentleman like Mr. Roosevelt, trained from the cradle to speak sweetly and suppress his more violent reactions when patience becomes necessary, can hardly withhold himself when he considers the great opportunity that was lost to the world when constitutions were ever invented.

Just exactly what those mossbacks had in mind who pioneered in this country—and made the Roosevelt fortunes possible—the President has never been able to fathom. Why one exalted to the position of highest leadership of a great nation should have any restrictions put upon him is beyond calculation. Even if he had little experience in the practical affairs of life what is the sense in putting a man into a position of power and then sort of clip his wings?

New York and New Jersey, as examples, have no difficulty about borrowing money. No bewhiskered statesmen fashioned any brake to slow them going down hill or crimp their style. They have a mountain of state debts so high it staggers credulity.

And yet they are in bad shape. They have heavy arrearages in unpaid taxes. Their rates of taxation have frightened many circumspect industries out of their borders. Due to the burdensome tax rate rents have shot over the moon. And due to high rents, among other things, those who are employed must ask a higher wage, one commensurate with the cost of life.

Let the chemist tell just which one of these elements is the most poisonous to the body politic but no where else on the Western Hemisphere are their created so many loafers, bums, criminals and Reds as the states that long since have followed Mr. Roosevelt's advice.

Looking over a state like Wisconsin with debt restrictions we find that it has all the advantages of states that do not mortgage their children. It was one of the few states that could afford to pay 10 million dollars bonus to its soldiers in the late war. When it wanted another 10 million to build a new capital structure it found the money—and without borrowing. It has homes for the mentally afflicted, prisons, jails and reformatories, institutions for the feeble-minded and the blind, great sanatoria for the tubercular, universities so extensive they make the taxpayer shiver, and yet all the time it keeps its finances in pretty good shape and hasn't earned any sneer or derision for mountebank methods from any oncoming generation.

Wisconsin may need considerable by way of rebuilding a lot of state institutions. We rather think it does need many new things. But when it comes to obtaining them it won't go to the pawnbroker.

Mr. Roosevelt may continue his advice of seeking solace in debt. It is as worthy as seeking surcease from sorrow in the flowing bowl.

GUNS POINT EAST

The kindest language coming from beyond the Rhine this week is delivered to France.

Herr Hitler feels great friendship for the Gauls. There is no reason, he opines, why their ancient strife should not be terminated forever.

Germany is pointing her guns toward the Ukraine. She is virtually asking the world, if it wishes to witness a real bear fight, to let it alone and watch. It wants no trouble to the West or on its flanks. But when it is prepared for hostilities a convenient episode will occur or can be arranged.

The Nazis are committed to the proposition that their future—and the most fertile lands—lie in the direction in which the sun rises.

THE MONKEY WRENCH IN THE SPY TRIALS

Whatever the outcome of the spy cases at New York involving alleged dupes of the Reich, they will furnish an everlasting example to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which, we cannot doubt, Mr. Hoover will have read over to all his G-men upon their induction into service.

It was one Turrou for the FBI who gathered the evidence that resulted in the indictment of 18 members of an alleged Nazi espionage ring, three of whom are on trial. And it was the same Turrou who sought to sell to a newspaper syndicate publication of a series of articles telling the "inside story" of how he collected the information on the spies. The brutally cold manner in which this government agent turned his back upon the interests of his employer in order to cash in on the notoriety created by the case induced the President to protest and the courts to enter an order, forbidding the publication of the story.

As would have been anticipated by Mr. Hoover, the capable head of the FBI, the defense has now turned upon Turrou and the issue before the jury is whether or not Turrou framed a fine story in order to make a "spot" of handsome size out of its publication.

The defendants are now claiming that Turrou was guilty of various kinds of trickery, that he induced alleged confessions to create a lurid tale and offered the confessions certain clear cut advantages for their signatures.

It is quite likely that the story of these defendants is told to fit the situation and made out of whole cloth. It is even more than likely that looking around for a goat so as to offset their own odor they struck at the government's principal witness but they struck well since his standing with the jury cannot be very high with both hands outstretched for the coin.

It will be easier for the public to understand why, when the facts were learned, Mr. Hoover declined to accept Turrou's resignation from the service but fastened upon him the stain of a very prompt discharge.

Turrou jeopardized the conviction by placing his interests ahead of the public's.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN DIFFERENT

The football public, which is composed of nearly all persons able to read and write, has undergone much in the way of emotional strain during the season now nearing a needed conclusion. A defeat of Notre Dame at Los Angeles on December 3 would be the last blow to an already shattered public morale.

The Wisconsin football public has been singled out for particular emotional abuse. In a single weekend its high-riding state university team was blasted from first place in the Western conference in a game that shattered the hopes of 26 years and its proud professional squad was humiliated by the city slickers. The former defeat was irreparable and final; the latter was largely anticlimactic.

In all credit to the Wisconsin football public, however, let it be set down here that never has a populace accepted defeat with better grace or with a better understanding of the facts. For once, defeat was credited to a superior foe and not blamed on the ineptitude of the coach—as is too often done when a "crucial" game is lost. As a matter of fact, once the citizens had had an opportunity to lick their wounds, they found themselves sympathetic to the point of tenderness over Harry Stuhldreher whose charges had done even better than was predicted for them at the beginning of the season.

All things considered, the Wisconsin football public can feel resentful for only one phase of university football. This resentment arises from a situation in 1932 when two conflicting personalities were officially thrown together to the ultimate detriment of affairs in that department. The sorry years that followed need not be reviewed.

Just as a matter of record, however, let it be remembered that the name of Harry Stuhldreher was among those considered at the time—and among those shunted aside.

A Verse for Today
By Anne Campbell

UNDER THE WALNUT TREE

The storms of life will trouble you no longer.
The trembling boughs above you may be torn;
The walnuts scattered as the gale grows stronger;
The bare boughs stripped of leaves, their beauty shorn;
But you will sleep, your restless nature consoled;
Your spirit calmed at last in the one spot
Where on this earth your soul was ever anchored;
Here you would linger when the day was hot.
Filling your gaze with the green acres spreading
On every side, as far as eyes could see,
Broken alone by the blue waters threading
Their patient journey to the distant sea.
Now in the splendor of an autumn morning
I linger in your presence, . . . You are here
Facing with me the first faint glow of dawn,
Seeing with me the intimate and dear
Landscape you loved so well . . . The tree is sighing;
It also has grown lonely for your voice . . .
And over the brown fields white birds are flying.
As if to be near heaven were their choice.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—Prelude to Yule:
Christmas is little more than the leaf of a calendar away, and I am now starting to wonder what to put on the Tree for Rusty. He is practically my only Christmas problem. I will continue, as has been my custom, to take care of my only other Christmas obligation, the Lovely Lady, by handing her a Substantial Cheque. She gets money-hungry at Christmas, preferring a Green Christmas, if I may toss off a double entendre.

When I say a Substantial Cheque I confess there are two schools of thought on the meaning of Substantial. The Lovely Lady has been unkind enough to say on past occasions that she fears I have confused the meaning of Substantial with Trivial. I deem it advisable, on such occasions, to ignore her rather broad insinuation. To meet the situation I have coined an epigram, to wit: A good little cheque is better than a bad big one.

In days gone by when the aura of romance first hung over our little cottage, I conceived the pretty practice of giving the Lovely Lady poetry. I would dip the pious pen into my warm heart's blood and write in rippling rhymes rare rondolets. These I would type carefully, bind between holly paper, and give to her on Christmas morning. Aside from a habit of holding it up and shaking it violently to determine if maybe I had stuck some banknotes in between the pages, she seemed fairly well satisfied with this touching Yuletide expression. I was always at great pains to explain that anyone could give mere merchandise, but that she was doubly blessed in having a Mate with a heart for Song.

As we grew older and the Lovely Lady got smarter, she viewed my madrigals less as flattery and more as affronts. The luxury of love, the ugly suspicion was born in her bosom that Poetry, no matter how good, was a poor substitute for a Big Christmas Package.

It was because of her cruel and unjust attitude that I was virtually compelled to change from writing poetry to cheques. But I will say this: I never wrote a Poem that bounced.

Ding-Dong Dog Dish:

A present for Rusty, though, is a serious matter. Dogs are finicky. You can't satisfy them with money. You can't satisfy them with poetry—not even doggerel. Hand them a couple of linen handkerchiefs in a holly box and say "Merry Christmas," and it leaves them cold.

Perhaps I could get him a new leash, but no matter how fancy I garnish him, he never puts on the dog. I fear his ancestry may not have been as snooty as I was led to believe. I could get him a blanket with his name embroidered on it, but he isn't that kind of a dog.

I dropped into a doggie shoppe (Woo-Woo!) yesterday, and the man said he had just the thing—a dog's dinner dish with doodads on it. "This," he said, "is Stuff, and I mean Stuff." (People talk very strangely in this town lately.) "It is the Supreme Achievement of the Scientific Age in the matter of dog dishes."

"As you know, dogs should eat regularly. If 5 p. m. is their regular eating hour, they should be fed at that time day after day without a moment's variance." (And I used to think dogs weren't particular when they got it, just so long as they got it.)

"Sometimes it isn't convenient to stay home just to feed the dog. That's where this dish comes in."

"The dish, you see, has a lid on it. Place the dog's dinner inside. Snap down the lid. Put the dish on the floor. The dog can't get the food on account of the lid. But look! here is a gadget and a bell. You set the gadget for 5 p. m. At exactly that moment the lid will snap open, and the bell will ring, summoning your pet to his dinner."

That's very nice, but I'm afraid Rusty wouldn't care for it. He is not the type of dog who would sit idly by waiting for a bell to ring. He would have the lid chewed off before noon, and by 5 o'clock he would be snoozing in his basket, digesting the bell.

10 YEARS AGO

If any action was to be taken on a new post-office for Appleton, it would not be taken until the treasury department sent its appropriations budget to the next session of congress, according to a communication received by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce from the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The new Behnke Man's shop on E. College avenue was to be opened for business Saturday morning, according to John Behnke, Sr., proprietor. The building was formerly occupied by the Recreation hall and had been entirely remodeled.

The Rev. Ralph A. Garrison, who had been called to fill the pulpit of Memorial Presbyterian church, left by the resignation of the Rev. Virgil B. Scott, was to take over his new duties Sunday, Dec. 16. The Rev. and Mrs. Garrison and daughters, Helen and Constance, were to occupy the Shannon house on Lawe street.

A capacity crowd of 42,000 was a certainty for the Wisconsin-Minnesota clash at Madison Saturday. A victory for Wisconsin meant undisputed possession of the Big Ten title.

The congregation of St. John church, W. College avenue, had purchased the residence of Leo N. Loesselyoung, 630 Story street, as a parsonage for $2,000.

The total amount of taxes to be collected in Outagamie county for the year 1913 was $333,198.03, according to the compilation finished by County Clerk William F. Wolf that morning. That year's tax was $144,947.06 more than the county tax for 1912.

Henry Belling, who was taking a course in pharmacy at Marquette university, Milwaukee, spent Thanksgiving at his home in this city.

Edna Ferber, formerly of Appleton, was to write a new series of McChesney stories for the American magazine in 1914.

C. S. Dickinson was recently elected president of the Riverview country club by the executive committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Soike, who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lothar Graef for a few days, left that week for their home in Aberdeen, S. D. Mr. Soike was a brother of Mrs. Graef.

That combination of nitrogen and hydrogen known as ammonia at one time was obtained by destructive distillation of the horns and hoofs of animals. The resulting solution of the gas was known therefore as spirit of hartshorn.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—(P)—By comparison with the holiday rush atmosphere around the White House, the president's Thanksgiving holiday at Warm Springs is as placid as a mid-summer Sunday on a farm.

Quiet is what the president wants when he goes there, and he gets it. The town of Warm Springs, on the railroad, consists of a small hotel, a station, and a cluster of homes. Two miles away is the "foundation" where infantile paralysis victims are treated. It is supported largely by profits of the president's birthday balls.

About three miles southward on Pine mountain, is the president's home, the "little White House." It is approached along a winding, pine-studded road. A few other cottages, occupied by patients, are along side the road but none nearer than a half mile. At that point the presidential guard begins.

The guard around the president's home is in the hands of marines, about 70 of whom are detailed to Warm Springs during the chief executive's visit. They patrol a circuit entirely around the place. Little sentry boxes shelter the marines in bad weather. There is a ceremony each evening as the guard detail is changed.

The president's house, located on a southerly slope, is not pretentious. All on one floor are three bedrooms, one large combination living and dining room, a reception room and kitchen.

At the rear, on the uphill side nearest the Warm Springs foundation, is a combination sunporch and patio much enjoyed by the president. A separate building provides quarters for servants.

The president drives about the place in his own car in good weather. In bad weather the dirt roads about the place are likely to be muddy and difficult. Each morning he drives to the "foundation" for his warm-water swim.

There are two outdoor swimming pools at the "foundation." One is semi-public and the other, glassed in, is preferred by the president. There he swims and exercises much as he does in the White House pool in Washington.

The administration building is the center of activity. A dining room occupies one wing of the building and across the street is a small chapel.

The country is sparsely wooded, mostly pines. Among them are scattered 200 or more cottages for private patients there at their own expense. Stairways and steps are for the most part taboo and sloping concrete paths, more easily negotiated by the patients, lead to the cottages.

The president often drives to his 1,000 acre farm about six miles from the foundation. Two times a week he drives by two cottages which are occupied by newspapermen during his stay there. There he holds informal roadside press conferences. Two times a week there are picture shows.

The president has few callers at Warm Springs, but members of his staff are present to assist with work he always takes along. Mrs. Roosevelt usually has Thanksgiving dinner there with the president but not often stays for the full 10 days or more.

Most impressive to casual visitors who stay at the town of Warm Springs is Howard, the negro, man-of-all-jobs in the hotel. In a white jacket he takes customers' orders. Entering the kitchen he shouts out to the cook such things as "Two steaks, medium." But Howard is the cook. Inside, behind the view of customers, he snatches off his jacket and prepares the orders. The jacket goes on again when he serves. He has another jacket, a darker one, when he has a portering task to do.

The dining room is roofed with tin. Guests occasionally hear a mouse galloping across it. Down there, however, they call them Georgia Foxes.

Instead of trying this and that medicine which may or may not produce some temporary effect upon one or another of the impaired functions, the individual whose health is under par must make the necessary corrections in his diet and in addition supplement his diet with certain of the essentials above mentioned. What is still more important and frequently not sufficiently impressed upon the mind is the fact that the remedial measures which bring about the desired rejuvenation or restoration of resiliency are not medicine but simply food. This is important, to remember because, altho it may be possible to produce certain effects with medicine and retain the benefit after the medicine has been discontinued, one does not expect to enjoy any benefits derived from nutrition unless one maintains the nutritive intake at the optimal level indefinitely.

On the other hand some doctors who had little or no scientific knowledge of the subject, conceived the notion that too much of this or that vitamin, especially sunshine vitamin D, might produce disastrous consequences, and these unenlightened—or perhaps subsidized—doctors propagated among the laity the wholly groundless fear of giving the baby a few more units of vitamin D than the baby should have daily. Extensive observation and experience in giving enormous doses of vitamin D daily over periods of many months have proved beyond the shadow of doubt that it is virtually impossible to do any harm by even enormous daily rations of vitamin D or any other known vitamin.

GET YOUR VITAMINS

Remember how we tried to explain the significance of tone the other day. Self-contained automatic regulating apparatus in the wall of the intestine, Auerbach's plexus or substation of the autonomic (sympathetic) nervous system, and Meissner's plexus, governs the gastro-intestinal function thus: "Gid-dap, hump yourself!" says Auerbach's plexus, and the muscle layer of the alimentary canal responds with a contraction, which would amount to colic were it not for Meissner's plexus which calls "Easy, easy, old girl, steady, now!" and holds back on the reins just enough to keep her pacing smoothly. This may not be quite accurate, but it will convey some idea of the significance of tone, resiliency, peace, fitness to function normally.

It is essential to bear in mind the fact that the conscious mind or will has no direct control over tone, and for that matter no medicine that purports to be a "good tonic" has any lasting influence upon tone. Tone is rather a matter of nutrition, not just ordinary nutrition but optimal nutrition.

Difference between ordinary nutrition, the state of most people who are not sick enough to go to a doctor but still not so well as they might be, and optimal nutrition the state of perfect health and vite which few are able to attain, is in my crazy judgment, principally a prolonged habitual or lifelong shortage of calcium and phosphorus, sunshine vitamin D, and vitamin B complex (which is the natural B factor including G or B-2 and several other entities not yet completely identified).

Instead of trying this and that medicine which may or may not produce some temporary effect upon one or another of the impaired functions, the individual whose health is under par must make the necessary corrections in his diet and in addition supplement his diet with certain of the essentials above mentioned. What is still more important and frequently not sufficiently impressed upon the mind is the fact that the remedial measures which bring about the desired rejuvenation or restoration of resiliency are not medicine but simply food. This is important, to remember because, altho it may be possible to produce certain effects with medicine and retain the benefit after the medicine has been discontinued, one does not expect to enjoy any benefits derived from nutrition unless one maintains the nutritive intake at the optimal level indefinitely.

Your Birthday

"SAGITTARIUS"
If November 26 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 12:15 p. m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p. m., and from 7:15 to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:45 a. m.; from 5:15 to 7:15 p. m. and from 9:15 to 11:15 p. m.

Thoroughness should be the order for this day. Through casual inspection many disappointments may come. Do nothing in a superficial manner, if you wish to save yourself from some future annoyance or trouble. Be careful that someone's magnetic personality does not hypnotize you into doing something against your better judgement. Strength of character must be exercised if the frailties of human nature are to be suppressed and many complications avoided. A strong temptation to put off doing unpleasant tasks probably will prevail, so procrastination may be one of the evils to be guarded against. The conversational power of the average person is apt to be above par, and apparently will be used advantageously. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, must keep in good humor if they expect to get through the day in a satisfactory manner.

If a woman and November 26 is your birthday, your depth of feeling will make you an exceptionally sympathetic individual, with many admiring and loyal friends. You may be the subject of much unfriendly or well-disposed criticism, depending largely on the efforts you make to do the right thing under all circumstances. You ought to have a very happy disposition, a great deal of ambition, and a remarkable foresight. You are apt to prove that you have a gift for entertaining.

New London—That long needle held no terrors for little second grader, Joyce Hauschultz, shown above smiling bravely while Dr. J. W. Monsted administered her "shot" for protection against diphtheria at the free mass immunization clinic sponsored by the American Red Cross chapter at New London High school Wednesday morning. A classmate, Harlan Scheid, scans the needles as he waits his turn with sleeve rolled. Both children are pupils at McKinley grade school. Not all the smaller children took it as bravely as these two but little difficulty was experienced and five doctors and their helpers took care of more than a 1,000 children in about three hours. High school students received vaccination only while most of the grade pupils took both treatments.

Using Leftovers

The Thanksgiving season often presents problems of leftovers which demand usage in ways which leave no trace of belonging to that class. Leftovers can be transformed into truly delectable dishes. The turkey pie does this so well that no camouflage is apparent. It is a delicious casserole dish to serve your family, a savory "second helping" meal, that will bring gleeful smiles to their faces and showers of praise to you. I suggest the cranberry and peach salad because it helps to utilize the remainder of the cranberry sauce. The pumpkin puffs are an ideal dessert to top off this delightful meal.

Cranberry and Peach Salad
Pumpkin Puffs

1 cup cranberry sauce

Pumpkin Puffs

1 cup shortening 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup brown sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 eggs, separated 1 teaspoon salt
1 cup pumpkin 1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup raisins 1/2 cup pecans
1 1/2 cups flour 1/2 cup pecans

Cream shortening, add brown sugar and cream thoroughly. Beat in egg yolks. Add pumpkin and blend. Mix and sift all dry ingredients, and add to first mixture. Then add raisins, pecans, and vanilla. Lastly fold in egg whites which have been stiffly beaten. Place in greased muffin tins and bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. about 30 minutes. Makes 1 dozen puffs. Frost with brown sugar icing.

Brown Sugar Icing

1 egg white 1 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons water

Combine in top of double boiler egg white, sugar and water. Beat just enough to blend ingredients. Place over rapidly boiling water, and beat with rotary egg beater until mixture is light and fluffy and will hold its shape, from 5 to 7 minutes.

My Neighbor Says—

Fruit salads which are not to be iced should be chilled, well drained and then arranged on the salad greens. The dressing should be added just before the salad is served. (A small amount of dressing may also be mixed in meal salads before they are chilled in order to season the mixture.)

Cabbage and lettuce are especially easy to keep crisp. Either should be washed well and placed, while dripping, in a covered container to be chilled for several hours. (To cover keeps the moisture in.)

Expert Play Beats Bid of 3 No Trump

BY ELY CULBERTSON
LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION
Question 37: You are West, defending against three no trump. Your hand and dummy are:

DUMMY (North)
♠ Q 7 4
♥ 10 5 3
♦ A J 9 2
♣ K 8 4

YOU (West)
♠ K 9 8 5
♥ A 7 2
♦ Q 10 7
♣ 5 3 2

You opened the five of spades, dummy ducked East played the ten, and declarer won with the jack. Declarer now leads the eight of diamonds. What diamond do you play, and why? (A short explanation will suffice.)

Answer: Your best play on the eight of diamonds is the queen of diamonds. This may mislead declarer into thinking you hold the king and queen without the ten spot. The diamond ace will take your queen but later, when declarer leads another diamond toward dummy, and you follow with the seven spot, declarer may mis-guess the situation and put up dummy's jack. If he does, your partner's king will win and your ten still will remain as a diamond stopper and trick. The recommended play may not succeed, but cannot lose, since if you play low or play the ten, your side certainly will be held to one diamond trick. For full explanation, see today's hand column. (No demerit for playing diamond seven or ten, but take 15 points credit for playing diamond queen with correct reason.)

The bidding:
South West North East
1 no trump Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump Pass Pass Pass

This hand formed the basis of Question 37, answered above.

West opened the five of spades, dummy ducked, East played the ten, and declarer won with the jack. Declarer then led the eight of diamonds. Most players in West's position would play the seven spot and think no more about it, but this particular West was an expert. Without a second's hesitation, he put up his diamond queen. Dummy's ace won and declarer returned to his own hand with a club. Another diamond then was led toward dummy. This time West played the seven and thereby put the declarer (who was not a master player) into a long huddle. After much stewing and brewing, declarer decided that West's play of the diamond queen must have been based on a holding of king-queen and one or more others, hence now went up with dummy's jack. East won with the king and returned a spade. At this point declarer was "fixed." He went up with the ace and led another diamond. West won with the ten, ran his two established spades, and then cashed the heart ace for the setting trick.

Admittedly, West's play of the diamond queen might have done no good if declarer had been shrewd enough to realize that West would not have played the queen from a holding of king-queen with one or two small guards. The fact remains that if West had played the seven spot, any declarer would merely cover with dummy's nine. East would win and return a spade, but now declarer would have a simple finesse against West's remaining Q-10 of diamonds and hardly could be astir. The recommended play at least gives the defenders a fighting chance.

Young Men and Women in Need Of More Homemaking Training

BY DOROTHY DIX

A famous educator-psychologist asserts that 50 per cent of the young women in the United States and 80 per cent of young men are not fit to marry because they know nothing, or next to nothing, about making a home.

Undoubtedly this is true. The youth of today look upon home as merely a place in which to change their clothes when they are rushing from one activity to another, and to go to when everywhere else shuts up. They were born in maternity hospitals; most of their time is spent in automobiles; they will be buried from undertaking parlors. Most of them have never lived in any one house long enough to remember its address.

The traditional home of song and story in which generation after generation lived and in which the family gathered at an evening about the lamp and whiled away the hours with conversation or music or reading, instead of Father and Mother stepping out to a night club and the children going joy-riding, is something that is just as foreign to their experience as would be a picture of domestic life in China or India or among the Hottentots.

DOROTHY DIX

And, take it from them, it must have been all mighty dull with nowhere to go and nothing to do but to sit up and look at your own folks and hear them tell over again the stories you cut your teeth on. Why, there wasn't even a radio then! Gosh, how did anybody stand it?

No one can doubt that the real reason for the enormous increase in divorce is because so many young people hold this attitude toward home life. They regard making a home as a bore—as a chore—and they are determined to have it cramp their style as little as possible. They are not willing to settle down and find their happiness within their own four walls. They want to go places and do things. They want to dance and flirt and play around just as they did before marriage. When they find that they cannot be both bond and free at the same time and that domesticity and philandering don't click, another marriage goes on the rocks.

No young man goes into any business or profession without preparing himself for it. No young man, for instance, would undertake to build a house if he knew nothing about architecture or carpentry or brick-laying or plumbing, but not one young man in a thousand ever even considers whether he has any talents or aptitudes for making a home.

Every day we see men marrying who could no more be domesticated than a wild lion could be. We see men marrying who know themselves to be so fickle that it isn't in them to be faithful to any woman. We see tightwads marrying who will begrudge their wives and children the very food they eat. We see tyrannical men and high-tempered men and grouchy men marrying and we wonder why they do not realize that they could no more make a happy home than they could build a China Clipper.

But if men know little of the art of homemaking, women are equally inept at it because they so often fail in the very first requirement of their job which consists in making their husbands comfortable. Every man's dream of home is a place of peace and rest, where there will always be a clean-swept hearth and good food on the table.

Yet nowadays when the great majority of girls go from the school room to an office or shop the number of young women who know anything about running a house is infinitesimally small. They don't know tough meat from tender. They couldn't plan a well-balanced meal to save their lives. Their idea of a delectable dinner for a hungry man is assembling something out of a paper bag and a tin can.

Now when a girl marries she takes not only her husband's heart but also his stomach into her keeping. If she gives him dyspepsia by her poisonous cooking, she has only herself to blame when he sours on matrimony and considers home life a blab.

The moral of all of which is that considering that virtually all young people expect to marry, and most of them do, they should give much time and thought to learning how to make a home as they do to preparing themselves for any other occupation. In everything in life it is the experts who win out.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

You have the best book on applied psychology right in your own home, but do you read it? Why spend money on best sellers when you own the most fascinating volume in the world, in fact, an entire library in itself, right there perhaps gathering dust? Compared with it, "Arabian Nights" is tepid!

CASE L-177: Nathan J., aged 21, is a proffesor for a magazine.

"President Hutchins recently stated that no books that are any good, appear in the elementary or high school curriculum," he began. "I wonder if you would give me a list of books that are worth his literary style and vast fund of knowledge."

I could pick Case Records from the Bible for a year, as in yesterday's example of Gideon. Wasn't that an interesting and profitable lesson?

There are hundreds of others. Modern Americans, even in my college classes, don't know that little, wallflower Esther ran circles around Wallis Warfield Simpson in getting her king.

Ever hear of the two girls who feared they'd become old maids, so they started a home tavern, got their man liquored up, and seduced him? Read your Bible!

"Arabian Nights" is tepid compared to the excitement in the Bible. Ever hear about the queen who became a suffragette and told a king to go jump in the lake, or something equally disdainful?

Or about the cunning intrigue of a prime minister who got caught in his own trap just when he thought victory was in his grasp? Or of the queen who violated court precedent, endangering her head, but gambling on her sex appeal to avoid destruction of her people?

Or of the little boy, dressed in a man's armor, who found he couldn't walk in so much iron, so threw it off and strolled out alone to defeat the world's champion?

Or of the famous test of alcohol versus water as a complexion cream? Or of the greatest love story in history, far exceeding Romeo and Juliet? Do you want to hear some of the snappiest comebacks on record, which confounded judge and jury? Read your Bible, and stop complaining because life is dull and you have nothing interesting to do!

These "Shop Early" signs that you see everywhere are not just for the benefit of merchants—they are as much for your benefit as theirs. It is one of woman's habits to procrastinate — to put off everything until tomorrow which she can possibly avoid doing today! So the Christmas holiday finds her rushing around madly, buying gifts which are not appropriate and getting so fatigued that husband and family will draw a sigh of relief once Mother has finished her hectic role of Santa Claus!

Think at Home

There is just one month before what should be the most joyous of days! Thirty days from this Friday you must have your home in order, the pig roasted, the holly hung out and all your gifts bought and wrapped! Some women get tired just realizing what must be done! But do they do anything about it? No! They wait until the last minute and then wonder why they dread Christmas each year!

Why not take time out this weekend and do your thinking at home? Don't go and hang over a crowded counter, being jostled on every side, and idly finger merchandise wondering whether Aunt Minnie would ever use it, or if your daughter would give you fits for buying it at all? Take a pencil in hand and make your list of "musts." Then flip the pages of your newspaper or some magazines and collect a few ideas. On Monday go out and buy as many as you can, while the stock is still rather fresh, and the numerous late shoppers are still at home.

Shirking Home Lesson Usually Causes Failure in Classroom

BY ANGELO PATRI

"Finished your homework, Thomas?"

"All but my meaning and use."

"Well, go ahead and do them. It is getting late. Now turn off that radio and do your work."

"Wait 'til I finish this program, Mom. Then I'll do them."

"Well, don't be long because it is getting late."

That program was finished and another begun. Thomas went into the kitchen for refreshments, returned to the living-room, held an argument with his sister about using a note book which he said was his and which she as firmly declared was hers, went back to the radio, turned and twiddled the knobs and made unearthly noises until father yelled, "Stop that!"

"Thomas, did you do your meaning and use yet?"

"O, Mom, I'm too tired. I have ten words to do in sentences. You do them for me. I have to get to bed. I'm dead."

"That's the way. You fool around until it is bedtime and then you're dead and I must help you out. Now this is the last time. Remember. Tomorrow night you sit down right after dinner and do your lessons. I mean it."

"All right, ma. Good night, everybody. I'm dead."

Mother did the ten words, definitions and sentences, and next day son read them to the teacher and handed them in as his home lesson. What mattered about it was that the boy gave in work as his which he had not done. He had lost the benefit of the experience the work might have given him; he lost the real value of his home lesson. He had not learned anything worthwhile and he had learned something detrimental to his character. He had learned to cheat. And his good mother had helped him.

The only value of home lesson is what effort it demands of the pupil, what personal experience it gives him; what he learns out of the experience. If he does nothing he gains nothing. The passing mark he gets by handing in another's work as his own means nothing. If he is called on, in a test, for the work, he fails. If the teacher feels he knows something, that he has acquired experience for further work, she is mistaken, and again he fails. The failure is certain, and often it is disconcerting to the pupil who did the cheating.

Every one in a while a pupil who has not shone much in class does brilliantly in a final test. He has been studying, working, doing his bit day by day and acquiring experiences and power gradually. When his learning has had time to season, and his acquired power has been concentrated on a job, he does exceedingly well. Honest work never fails.

The pupil who has done as little as possible, has taken help wherever he could get it, has allowed others to do his work for him, has saved himself any effort and any pains in learning, fails at the crucial moment because he has not prepared for it. Cheating is about the most useless form of dishonesty imaginable, and the most self-punishing.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

"This is the best idea of the year," he dropped his voice and turned to me. "It's like finding a cool stream in the desert."

"Why, Adam, you're a poet!"

He laughed and his thin skin grew a little pink. "I must have read it somewhere."

He looked remarkably boyish and alive. He was older than the other bachelors, but his face was unlined and merry.

"Seriously, it has been pretty deadly here this summer, hasn't it, Elizabeth?"

She smiled faintly. "I'm afraid I haven't noticed, and I must confess I was not thinking of you when I invited Katherine."

The blue eyes blinked; the fair skin reddened. "Shame on you, Elizabeth," he said unexpectedly. "Is a poor engaged girl to get no more pretty speeches?"

"Good heavens, no she thinks too well of herself as it is," drawled Charlie, appearing at his elbow. "One side, Adam, I suppose I'll have to kiss her."

Elizabeth looked moderately scandalized and for a moment I thought Adam was annoyed. Then he stepped back.

Velvet halibows to match afternoon frocks is a new fad introduced by Cecilia Parker. At informal afternoon parties, where hats are removed, Cecilia adds to her coiffure by perching a pert velvet bow at the spot formerly occupied by the chapeau. # Yule Decorations On Avenue Will be Turned on Tonight

Power Company Signs,
Lighted Arches Feature
Christmas Opening

The Christmas season will be ushered into Appleton at 5 o'clock this afternoon when Yule decorations on College avenue, on store fronts and in store windows will flash on for the first time.

Merchants have been busy all week erecting displays, pulling spruce trees into place, stringing lights and planning windows for the Christmas opening.

One of the most outstanding displays this year will be that atop the Wisconsin Michigan Power company plant. Three yellow Christmas bells will be topped by a red ribbon and flanked by green holly leaves in lights. The words, "Good Cheer" will shine continuously from the sign in red lights with letters six feet high. The bells are 21 feet in height.

The display fronting the power company's College avenue office this year will be a giant wreath dotted with green lights with a large bow in red lights at the top. The wreath is 20 feet in diameter and will use 450 light bulbs.

Street decorations

The new street decorations will be lighted along with the rest of the avenue. Replacing last year's Santa Claus faces are lighted arches of evergreen spaced along the avenue from Drew street to Memorial on alternate light posts. The faces will decorate intervening posts.

Other merchants have spotted lighted spruce trees on building fronts as well as streamers of lighted evergreen. The combined decorations should lead to the avenue a Christmas atmosphere second to none in Appleton's history.

Kenneth Corbett, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said this morning stores will remain closed in the evenings until Dec. 19 when they will be open evenings for five successive days. The stores will close at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, the day before Christmas, he said.

Clark Teel is chairman of the committee that planned the street decorations this year and was assisted by Clarence Muck, Lester Asmus, William Peterson, Ray Treiber, Louise Luehke and Royal LaRose.

Nazis Force Greek Papers to Curtail Anti-Semitic Stories

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

Athens, Greece — I understand from a well-informed source that the Greek government the other day issued an order to the newspapers that they were not to publish any further news regarding the anti-Semitic activities in Germany unless it came from German sources.

The action, I am told further, came after the German minister had made representations to the Greek foreign office.

Enforcement of this order would mean, of course, that the Greek press wouldn't publish anything that the German government didn't like, since the Nazi authorities absolutely control the publications of the Reich.

Later this order was relaxed somewhat and papers were permitted to publish not only news from German sources but that carried by two conservative agencies of other European countries.

This order is notable for several reasons.

First off, it shows that the Nazi authorities don't like the adverse publicity they have been getting because of anti-Semitism.

More important it marks a new development in diplomacy between totalitarian states as concerns the press.

Germany is said to have taken the attitude in the present instance that since the Greek government controlled the newspapers of this country, any publication unfavorable to Germany must ipso facto have the endorsement of the Greek government. In other words if the Greek press were unfriendly to Germany the Greek government also must be hostile.

Such an interpretation opens up an endless range for further repression of the already hamstrung press of totalitarian countries.

I have just completed a tour of seven such countries and believe the newspapers of those countries have been stripped utterly of independence.

Murder Warrant Is Issued in Michigan Fatal Shooting Case

Calumet, Mich. — (AP) — Waino Kempainen, 25, was named today in a murder warrant charging he shot his cousin, Leslie Kempainen, 23, Pelkie, as they rode in an automobile to a hunting camp last Sunday.

Sergeant Merle Peck of the Michigan state police said Waino Kempainen admitted firing a shot at his cousin during a quarrel over the ownership of a purse found in the automobile.

Abraham Kinnunen, a passenger in the automobile, told police he had thrown a .32 caliber revolver out of the car near the spot where it went out of control and overturned after the shot was fired. A coroner's examination revealed Leslie Kempainen was killed by a .32 caliber bullet fired into his right temple. Police found the revolver Tuesday.

Police said Matt Kokko, also a passenger in the automobile, apparently was under the influence of liquor and knew nothing about the shooting. They said all four men had been drinking.

'Clint' Ballard, Leaving for California, Feted at Reunion

The sons and daughters of C. B. Ballard, route 3, Appleton, gathered on Thanksgiving day at the Ballard farm which has been in the family for over 80 years, for a family reunion which also was in the nature of a farewell for Mr. Ballard who will leave about Dec. 1 to spend the winter in California. He will make his home this winter with his sister, Mrs. Mary Brown, Paomina, Los Angeles county.

Twenty persons were present for the Thanksgiving dinner, namely: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ballard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Tritt, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foor, Appleton; and Mrs. Paul McKinney and daughters, Frances and Beulah, Pine River, Minn.

"Clint" Ballard, storm center of many a political and legislative battle in Wisconsin, has been a political force in the state for nearly half a century. As an adherent of the late Sen. Robert M. La Follette he carried the LaFollette banner in Outagamie county in the early days of the movement. He went to the legislature in 1909 and in four sessions played a prominent part as a LaFollette leader. The sessions besides that of 1909 in which Mr. Ballard served were those of 1911, 1917 and 1919. He was appointed state treasury agent in 1921 by the late John J. Blaine, then governor, and served in that position for six years. Later he was appointed superintendent of public property by Fred R. Zimmerman when the latter was governor. He held that post for two years, and since retiring has made his home in Madison.

Mr. Ballard, who at one time stated that he would not visit California until Tom Mooney, nationally known convict who has been petitioning for his freedom for many years, was freed, hopes to be one of the first to shake Mooney's hand upon his release, for Gov. Elbert Olson of California has promised that one of his first official acts will be to pardon Mooney.

bridge Wednesday night when the middle span was opened to permit passage of a Lake Superior boat in St. Louis bay. Police theorized the driver became confused and entered the bridge in the southbound (exit) traffic lane. The car and bodies were recovered from 27 feet of water.

In addition to the known dead, six others have been missing all week.

Forty-mile winds, piling up snow and sleet over an area already seriously crippled by the worst Thanksgiving storm in years, threatened additional distress for transportation facilities in many parts of the nation today.

The icy winds struck sections of the north Atlantic coast soon after midnight last night, accompanied by a severe and freakish thunder and lightning disturbance in New York and New Jersey.

Additional sleet and snow and continued cold were forecast for most of the nation today with clearing skies expected tonight and rising temperatures tomorrow.

At least 35 deaths were attributed to what was winter's first real onslaught for most sections.

Air Traffic Halted

Air traffic was at a standstill in the east last night, and weather officials believed flights would be cancelled through most of today.

The weather bureau at Washington warned of storms along the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatteras to northern Maine.

From almost every section of the nation came reports of stranded motorists, stalled buses, delayed trains. Communication and light and power facilities were crippled in some regions.

New England reported the highest holiday death toll, with 10 auto fatalities. Icy highways accounted for five deaths in the south. Ohio reported four dead in traffic accidents and Pennsylvania three; New York reported five storm deaths; Indiana had three, Michigan two, and Nebraska, Missouri and Maryland one each.

Snow Covers Indiana

In New England, hit by the first heavy snow and the coldest weather of the winter, traffic was virtually at a standstill because of glazed highways.

Most of Indiana was still snow-covered today. Although no snow fell in Minnesota, Minneapolis' thermometer reading of 14 degrees was the coldest of the year.

Snow covered most of Ohio. The lowest temperature there was 13. Western Missouri and Kansas had sub-freezing weather last night, with rain and more snow in prospect for today.

At Selma, Iowa, it was so cold that Gail Burkett, who had escaped from a prison camp Sunday, spent his last money on a ticket to Keokuk, Iowa, to surrender and re-enter the warm state prison.

Missing Hunter Returns As 100 Search for Him

Colebrook, N. H. — (AP) — While 100 searchers struggled through a foot of snow in temperature near zero in quest of Wilbur Potter, 59-year-old hunter missing since Wednesday, the Milan farmer walked into near-by Errol today, apparently none the worse for his experience.

No trace was found of him all day yesterday and searchers feared he had perished in the cold.

Game Warden George Stevens said Potter spent Wednesday night in an isolated camp several miles in the dense woods. Yesterday he started out again and spent the night at a lumber camp at Millfield Pond.

Red Cross Office Open Tonight to Receive Donations

Money Collected Wednesday
In Roll Call Hikes Total to $1,826

Donations totaling $396.14 Wednesday hiked the American Red Cross roll call fund to $1,826.94, almost half of the $4,000 campaign quota, according to Mrs. Mabel O. Shannon, executive secretary.

Letters sent to farmers through the rural grade schools began to show results as the first report from a county school was received today. The Stephentown school sent in six memberships totaling $6, the first received from a rural source, Mrs. Shannon said.

If the rural roll call shows results this year, efforts will be made to develop a dental program through the county nurse in the rural areas. The amount of money to be spent in those areas depends on the response of farmers willing to finance such a program.

The red cross office at 104 E. College avenue, above Kinney Shoe store, will be open from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock tonight to receive donations. George F. Werner, co-chairman of the roll call, will be there to receive the memberships.

The office also is open from 9 o'clock in the morning to 5 o'clock in the afternoon to receive collections of roll call workers. Voluntary donations also will be welcomed, Mrs. Shannon said.

Mrs. Shannon also urged persons who have not been contacted by workers to send their donations to her office. All of the residential areas have been covered.

U. S. Embassy Hands New Note to Germany On Austrian Bonds

Berlin — (AP) — The United States embassy was understood today to have transmitted a new note to the German government concerning Austrian bonds.

The embassy would not divulge the contents of the note, asserting the question of publication rested with the state department in Washington.

It was believed, however, that the note rejected Germany's communication Monday as unsatisfactory. Secretary of State Cordell Hull said in Washington Monday that a note on Austrian bonds had been received from Germany but he would not disclose its nature. He said, however, it did not purport to be final and therefore was unsatisfactory to the United States government.

The note replied to American notes of last April 6 and June 9 demanding that Germany, having absorbed Austria, assume responsibility for that country's debts to the United States.

Party of 17 Deer Hunters Brings Back 11 Deer From North Woods; Other Sportsmen Report Success

Eleven deer were brought back by a party of seventeen hunters which spent the last six days in the north woods near the Michigan state line ten miles west of Land O'Lakes. Other hunters from Appleton and vicinity are returning from a successful week's stay in the northern part of the state.

In the party of hunters were County Clerk John E. Leon Wasserbach, route 1, Appleton, and Donald Decker, New London, returned Wednesday, each with a deer. Wasserbach's deer weighed 150 pounds and Decker's 200 pounds. The pair hunted in Florence county.

Two bucks, each weighing about 125 pounds, were bagged by Orville Carey, 818 E. Minor street, and Lynden Carey, 413 E. Fremont street, who hunted near Crivitz. Adolph Van Gemert, 1231 W. Lorain street, bagged a 154-pound buck near Wabeno.

14-Point Bucks

Ed Garvey, Freedom, got a 250-pound buck with an unusually large rack of horns, 28 points, near Crandon. In his party were John and Pat Garvey, Joseph Romanenko and Melvin Krueger, all of Freedom. They returned Wednesday.

Joseph Van Camp, Cy Weyenberg and Harry Brockman, all of Freedom, each brought back a buck from near Phillips. One buck weighed 150 pounds and the other two about 125 pounds. The party returned yesterday.

Weyauwega hunters who have returned with a deer are Alvin Richter, Lester Anderson, Harold Clark, Stuart Jones, John Behn, M. A. Miller, S. B. Tripp and Walter Guenther. Guenther also killed a wolf in Wood county near Dexter. A bounty of $20 was paid on it. Emory Danke, route 1, Dale, didn't have to go north to kill a wolf. He bagged a wolf near his farm. A number of sheep have been killed in that vicinity by wolves.

Dr. G. M. LaCroix, Harold Anthony and Jake Scott have returned to Shiocton, each with a deer. The Rev. Michael Gonnering, Stockbridge, got a 200-pound buck on his twenty-ninth deer hunting trip. He hunted near Townsend and Lakewood.

Wheeler Says Party Factions Need Unity To Win 1940 Contest

Washington — (AP) — Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said today if Democrats are to win the 1940 presidential election, they must nominate a candidate "who can harmonize the various factions of the party."

Wheeler, who led the successful fight against the Roosevelt court bill, told reporters that Democrats in the next session of congress should "get together, correct imperfections that have become manifest in New Deal laws and consolidate their forces."

"The party," he continued, "should go forward with a constructive liberal program."

"If the party is going to be divided and the 'purges' of the past are to continue, then there will be few Democrats elected in 1940."

Wheeler said he saw no chance for any important third party movement in 1940. He ran for vice president on the Progressive ticket in 1924, with the late Senator LaFollette as the presidential candidate.

Coughlin Must Offer Scripts in Advance

New York — (AP) — Radio Station WMCA announced yesterday it had advised Father Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit that hereafter he must submit 48 hours in advance the scripts for his weekly broadcasts.

The station said it had sent him a telegram reading in part:

"Your broadcast last Sunday was calculated to incite religious and racial strife in America. When this was called to your attention by this station in advance of your broadcast, you agreed to delete those misrepresentations which undeniably had this effect. You did not do so, and we therefore are compelled to require you hereafter to submit all scripts 48 hours in advance of broadcast and to advise you that this station will not carry anything by any speaker calculated to spread racial and religious hatred, intolerance or strife in America."

After the Detroit priest had discussed "Persecution—Jewish and Christian," over the station last Sunday an announcer said that "unfortunately Father Coughlin has uttered certain mistakes of fact." The announcer did not specify any particular statements.

Urges Sweeping Probe Of Radio Broadcasting

Washington—(AP)—A sweeping congressional investigation of radio broadcasting policies was proposed Thursday by Senator White (R-Me.) who said he had received indications of Democratic support.

No attempt will be made, he said, to inquire into internal dissensions within the federal communications commission nor to inquire into that body's specific acts.

"I am not interested," White said, "in exposing any dirty linen, if there is dirty linen. What I have in mind is an objective study of radio problems, the goal of which would be congressional enactment of a general policy to be followed by the commission."

Farmers in Position To Borrow Millions With Corn Collateral

Washington—(AP)—A loan rate higher than local prices by as much as 20 cents a bushel in some areas put the country's corn farmers in a position today to borrow up to $200,000,000 from the government.

The 1938 program, to be administered by the Commodity Credit corporation with the approval of President Roosevelt, sets a loan rate of 57 cents a bushel in commercial areas of Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Ohio, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska and South Dakota. In other areas the rate is 43 cents.

This means, said agriculture department experts, that 400,000,000 bushels can be put as collateral for loans by eligible farmers—those who cooperated last year in the program by limiting their acreage to allotments fixed under soil conservation regulations. Last year's corn crop approximated 2,500,000,000 bushels.

Banks and other lending agencies as well as the Commodity Credit corporation will make loans on the 1938 crop. The interest rate is 2 1/2 per cent a year.

The corn is held by the government until the loan is liquidated. Except in the south, corn thus withheld from the market may be stored on the borrower's farm or in approved warehouses.

Because their grain is more subject to insect infestation, southern farmers must store their corn in approved warehouses.

Sees Reduction in Federal Spending

McNary Says Larger G. O. P. Bloc Will Hamper 'Experimentation'

Washington—(AP)—Republican Leader McNary of the senate said today his party's increased strength in the new congress would tend to force more mature consideration of legislation, trim government spending and oppose "further experimentation in untried fields."

The Oregonian, who returned yesterday from the west, said the Republicans would go along with the Democrats in "any safe and progressive steps" and would support any "practical" farm relief plan if the Democrats had one. He declared that if such a plan were not produced by the majority, the Republicans would submit their own.

The senator said he had not had time to discuss the outlook with other members of his party but felt that the Republicans would join with other groups to "vastly curtail government expenditures and bring about a balance between income and outgo."

"More mature consideration will be given legislation this year because we have lessened the gap between the Republican and Democratic membership," McNary said.

ZEBU BORN AT ZOO

Milwaukee—(AP)—There's a new resident at the Washington park

"A small margin always makes for good legislation," McNary declared that greater control over relief expenditures was necessary and that any farm plan must be less restrictive than the present one.

Constipated? You Should Get at the Cause!
Lots of people think they can't be "regular" without frequent trips to the medicine chest. "I just dose up and get it over," they tell you. But doctors know they don't "get it over" at all—until they get at the cause of the trouble! Chances are it's simple to find the cause if you eat only what most people do—meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement. If that fits you, your ticket is a crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B<sub>1</sub>. Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Twin Cities Area Leads Increase in County Valuation

4 Municipalities Contribute $3,927,300 to Gain Of $5,635,600

Menasha — An increase of $5,635,600 in new buildings on the county assessment rolls, of which more than two-thirds is in the Twin Cities area, has been reported by Forrest W. Gillett, Fond du Lac, district supervisor of assessments, to the Winnebago county board. The city of Neenah, city of Menasha, town of Neenah and town of Menasha together account for $3,927,300 of the increase.

The increase represents new construction since 1935 when the state legislature passed an act exempting new construction from taxation during 1936 and 1937. The act lapsed and last spring the assessors placed the new property on the local tax rolls. This new valuation will be used in the 1939 distribution of the county tax.

The town of Menasha has the largest increase of any of the units of government in Winnebago county, $1,898,900. Much of that increase is due to the construction of the Lakeview mill of the Kimberly-Clark corporation. In the town of Menasha new property on the tax roll includes $34,200 in residential construction, $8,000 in mercantile, $1,551,200 in manufacturing and $7,500 in agricultural improvements.

The city of Neenah contributes $1,080,200 to the increase, the main item of which is $783,300 in new home construction. Mercantile construction amounted to $46,500 and manufacturing to $250,400.

New building in Menasha accounted for a $712,200 increase. That construction included $432,900 in residences, $46,900 in mercantile property and $232,400 in manufacturing. Neither Neenah nor Menasha had any improvements on agricultural property. The city of Oshkosh showed an increase of only $805,700 during the same period.

The increase in the town of Neenah amounted to $236,000. Residential property increased the value $161,600 while there were $58,200 in agricultural improvements. Mercantile property increased $16,200 in new construction while the town of Neenah had no increases in manufacturing property.

New homes throughout Winnebago county accounted for $2,380,800 of the $5,635,600 total. Mercantile improvements were valued at $334,300, manufacturing at $2,427,400, and agricultural at $93,100 in the entire county. The total increase in the cities of the county was $2,698,100 of which $1,859,900 was residential, $265,700 was mercantile, and $572,500 was manufacturing.

The towns of Winnebago county accounted for $2,898,400 of the increase of which $490,800 was in new homes, $655,500 was in mercantile buildings, $1,853,400 was in manufacturing and $493,100 was in agricultural. The villages of the county accounted for $34,700 of the increase with $30,100 in new homes, $3,100 in mercantile and $1,500 in manufacturing.

Menasha Man Hurt As Vehicle Crashes Into Side of Hotel

Menasha — An automobile driven by Carl Kloppef, 240 Ahnaip street, Menasha, crashed into the side of Hotel Menasha at 9:15 Wednesday night when Kloppef lost control of the machine, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski. Kloppef received a cut on his right knee and bruises on his head and body. The front end of the car was damaged.

The accident occurred as Kloppef was driving west on Main street. When he attempted to make a left turn onto Mill street he met another car and swung wide, striking the curb, Kloppef told the police. He attempted to step on the brake but missed the pedal, stepping on the gas and driving into the side of the building.

A collision between an automobile driven by Allen Handler, Chicago, and one driven by Mrs. O. L. Thompson, 338 E. Columbia avenue, Neenah, occurred at 2:20 Wednesday afternoon on Wisconsin avenue according to Neenah police.

1,200 Letters are Sent as Christmas Seal Sale Begins

Dr. G. A. Williamson Is Chairman of Drive At Neenah

Neenah — The sale of Christmas seals through the mail opened today in Neenah with 1,200 letters going out to Neenah business men and citizens. Dr. G. A. Williamson is the Christmas Seal chairman while Miss Mildred Erdman is the seal sale manager.

This will be the thirty-second annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals in the United States and, in conducting it, the local association is joining forces with 1,500 tuberculosis associations and 1,200 smaller committees affiliated with the National Tuberculosis association.

The theme of the sale this year is protection of the home, for statistics show that tuberculosis breaks up more homes than any other disease. If a mother or father is stricken, it means separation from the family if other members are to be protected from the threat of the disease.

Tuberculosis usually brings a serious economic problem. Each year the disease claims the lives of 45,000 persons between 15 and 45. Christmas seals finance a year-round program to control tuberculosis and by so doing, protect all homes from tuberculosis.

The various choral groups of the city again will be asked to submit applications to perform during the week preceding Christmas. No deadline for the applications has been set but that will be considered by the committee at one of its early meetings.

More than 10 junior and adult choirs, as well as a number of individuals, were heard on the programs last year which emanated from the Presbyterian church. Other plans also will be made for the celebration by the committee.

fund. These represented about half of the total transfers. The emergency board as now constituted is a child of the depression days of 1931.

Prior to 1931 the board consisted of the governor, secretary of state and the treasurer. Its powers were very limited.

During Governor LaFollette's first administration the two chairmen of the legislative finance committee were substituted for the secretary of state and treasurer.

This board's authority also was expanded in the special session of 1931 when it was given power to cut the appropriations of state departments.

Revenues from taxation at that time were on the decline and the board was to have authority to keep expenditures somewhere in line with receipts.

The same power to cut appropriations was continued in the Democratic administration of 1933 and when Governor LaFollette returned to the executive office in 1935 the board continued to exercise conditional control over state finances.

The most extraordinary powers were granted to the board by the 1937 legislature which adopted a budget in two parts. The first part made specific appropriations which could not be touched. The second part, known as Budget B, granted additional allotments to all units of state government provided the emergency board saw fit to release the funds. The budget drafters contended this element of control was necessary to keep expenses and tax receipts in line, but it apparently will be up to the courts to decide whether such action was legal.

Quarterly Payments Of Taxes are Favored

Milwaukee—The common council's special taxation committee approved today suggested legislation which would make real estate taxes throughout the state payable in quarterly installments.

Ronald A. Drechsler, assistant city attorney, said a bill providing quarterly payments would be introduced at the next session of the state legislature, probably through the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

Drechsler, who prepared the proposals, said a suggested constitutional amendment would empower the legislature to permit monthly installments in any governmental unit so desiring. The amendment, he said, will be introduced by William Double, Republican assemblyman-elect in the Seventeenth district.

Papas Will Spend 8 Million On Their Debutante Daughters

New York—The question of debutante parties bobbed up again today with the finding, announced after some research, that total papas will spend approximately $8,000,000 to introduce their daughters to "polite society" this season.

The actual cost of the debut parties for 1,000 eligible 18-year-old girls in New York and 15 other of the biggest and wealthiest cities in the United States was placed by Fortune magazine at approximately $3,000,000 for champagne, orchestras, engraved announcements, scrambled eggs with sausages, et cetera. The total cost for the "coming out" year—exclusive of $3,000 for a wardrobe—was figured at around $8,500 each.

It's still a big business, Fortune said after a survey of the debutante scene, but the debutantes are all dressed up with no place to go because, the magazine said, there is very little "polite society" left in to which they can be introduced.

More "findings" from the research: "Society" today is little more than a tag line of college boys and unemployed young men, except in the "old south."

Adults, and especially men—marriageable or otherwise—have almost completely disappeared from the society into which a New York girl makes her debut today. So have they in Boston, where debutantes are now presented to the Harvard undergraduate body, minus freshmen. They have disappeared because the social game costs time and money.

The magazine said the 1,000 United States debutantes this year "pick of the country from the standpoint of family background, wealth and breeding, will make their debut into a society that is everywhere in the throes of change, if not decay."

State Commission Petitions I. C. C. to Modify Rates Order

Madison—The public service commission today petitioned the interstate commerce commission to modify an order of last April which established new freight rates on Wisconsin shipments to the south.

The commission seeks to secure more equitable rates on shipments from cities north and west of Milwaukee and Madison.

The commission cited as examples rates of $1.38 per 1000 pounds from Manitowoc and Sheboygan to Kentucky cities, 31 cents more than from southern Wisconsin and Illinois cities. Rates from Oshkosh and Fond du Lac to North Carolina points are as much as 34 cents per 100 pounds more than from competing cities in neighboring states, the commission said, adding that rates from Green Bay to Durham, N. C., are 38 cents higher than from Milwaukee or Chicago.

"This disparity is more serious where the points thus related are close together," the commission said. "There should be a blending process employed so that some compromise of rates between the rate systems would be employed. Rate jumps of serious proportions could best be avoided."

Ice Over Lake Blocks Search for 2 Bodies

Elkhorn, Wis.—Formation of an inch of ice over Lake Kono blocked efforts today to recover the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hirshmann, Villa Park, Ill., believed drowned when their outboard motorboat overturned.

An airplane was employed in the search, but the ice prevented the pilot from discerning any dark objects against the lake bottom.

The couple has been missing since Nov. 19. Their overturned boat was found in the middle of the lake.

PRIEST SUCCUMBS

Chicago—The Rev. Method Vones, 63, a Catholic priest for 40 years in the Benedictine order, died yesterday at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Pylik. He was a former instructor of music and mathematics at St. Procopius college, Lisic, Ill., and was pastor of churches in Phillips, Wis., and Dante, S. D.

Boy Scouts and Their Troops

The desire to climb a rung or two up the scouting ladder and the urge to surmount the lowly tenderfoot rating apparently has stimulated a number of scouts throughout the valley. Recent indications reveal that never before has such lively interest been shown in that all-important phase of scouting.

In accordance with the plans of the valley council, troop 30, Clintonville, has focused most of its attention upon Second class tests, thus decreasing the number of registered tenderfoot scouts. A number of merit badges earned by members of the troop were presented at the troop's recent bean feed.

Lewis Beer has recently earned his last merit badge, thus making himself eligible for the life star award as soon as his service period expires. Elementary test work on Hark Reitzke, a newly inducted member is well under way. At present two meetings are being held each week, one for the senior scouts and one for the junior scouts in order that the troop may organize a unified younger and older boys program.

John Pfleger and Mando Ariens, troop committeemen, were present at the last meeting of Troop 46, Brillion. Those who have recently passed tests are as follows: Charles Willis and John Puser, nature study; Roger Schwallier, mapmaking; and Robert Egan, tenderfoot tests. James Burich, Robert Egan, and Wallace Pfleger participated in a stunt presented by the Hyena patrol. The troop's business was concentrated upon patrol reorganization.

A number of talks by Robert Ozzane, Richard Billings, Walter Dixon, and Herb Heilig highlighted a recent Methodist Fraternity club meeting held in honor of the scouts of Troop 43. A supper coupled with a number of patrol demonstrations tended to round out a perfect evening's program.

Patrols 1 and 2 headed by R. A. Plucker and Robert Moseng, respectively, presented demonstrations regarding the correct utilization of first aid knowledge, and Patrols 3 and 4, led by George Hoffman and Bill Johnson, respectively, gave exhibitions on signaling and knot tying.

Change Meeting Hour
One of the number of new policies inaugurated by C. D. Aidrich, new scoutmaster of Troop 41, Combined Locks, has been the changing of the troop's meeting hour. Membership cards permitting induction into the troop have recently been obtained by Peter Juska, Edward Van Cuyck, and Jack DeGoey. Recently announced patrol leaders are as follows: Eagle patrol, John Smaxwell, Billy Van Zealand, and Harold Schumacher; Owl patrol, Paul De Groot and Robert DeCoster; Wolf patrol, Marvin Jansen and Herman Van Cuijk.

A plea for more advancement and test consciousness has been made to all members of Troop 31, Kaukauna, so that they might participate in the board of review meeting to be held at the end of the month. A hike has been planned to aid in that cause. John Helein and James Gustman are newly authorized members of the troop. Orris Schmalz, scoutmaster, and Orville Vlnelling, assistant scoutmaster, completed the meeting by relating their experiences in the fields of camping and Indian handicraft work.

Troop 19, Kimberly, victorious in recent competition, recently presented a demonstration in the window of a local sporting goods store in behalf of the national Red Cross campaign. The collection of old newspapers and magazines has been progressing rapidly, and it is the opinion of Edward Banker, scoutmaster, that the task should become a monthly assignment.

LaGuardia Denies He Is Seeking Presidency

New York—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia reiterated yesterday in a letter he made public that he has no immediate ambition to become a candidate for president.

The letter was in response to one in which the writer told LaGuardia he never could be president because he had advocated New Deal policies.

"I have stated so often I thought everybody knew it," the mayor wrote "that any official who has his eye on another nomination and future election impairs his usefulness. I have never permitted political expediency to mar my judgment or to swerve me one way or another."

FORMER OFFICIAL DIES

Armstrong Is Picked to Win

Expect Big Crowd to Contribute $115,000 To Garden Coffers

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK—(AP)—Henry Armstrong has been paid some nice compliments in the course of his mad career, but the bookmakers and the betting public have handed him the greatest patron-the-back yet by installing him a firm 2-to-3 favorite over Ceferino Garcia in their 15-round welterweight title bout tonight in the Garden.

The thousands of words written, and said about Garcia's murderous punches have done nothing to shake the public's confidence in the little Negro wonder. The fact the husky Filipino will outweigh Henry by a dozen pounds when they enter the ring is worth only a bored "So what?" from Henry's loyal rooters.

Few fighters ever have gained such a hold on the customers. Promoter Mike Jacobs says indications are the big hall will be packed, with close to $115,000 in the till. Only four reserved tickets were turned back when the bout was postponed from its original date, Nov. 2.

Though Garcia has a record nearly as striking as Armstrong's over the last two years, and has been belting out welterweights and middleweights while Henry was rolling up 39 consecutive victories over the little fellows, Armstrong is the drawing card tonight.

There are plenty, of course, who think the thing is a set-up for Garcia. Armstrong, they admit, is one of the greatest lightweight champions, a terrific fighter at 135 pounds. But, they point out, he won his welterweight crown from a washed-up, tired, Barney Ross.

The consensus seems to be that Armstrong has the better chance of grabbing the decision if it goes the full 15 rounds, and that Garcia will have to win by a knockout.

Whatever happens to Henry tonight, he retains his 135-pound title and the certainty of a big outdoor return battle with Lou Ambers, from whom he won the crown, next spring. Ambers will win or lose tonight, he will be the first really big purse of his meteoric career.

Chuters Ready for Papermaker Five

Coach Miron Has Been Forced to Build an Entirely New Team

Little Chute—The big battle of the stars in basketball circles as far as Kimberly and Little Chute fans are concerned will take place tonight at St. John high auditorium with the Kimberly Papermakers meeting the St. John Dutchmen. The Papermakers are entrants in the Little Nine conference while the Dutchmen are entered in the Catholic conference.

Coach Hamann of the Papermakers has seven veterans of last year's squad which copied the conference title and hopes to repeat again this season.

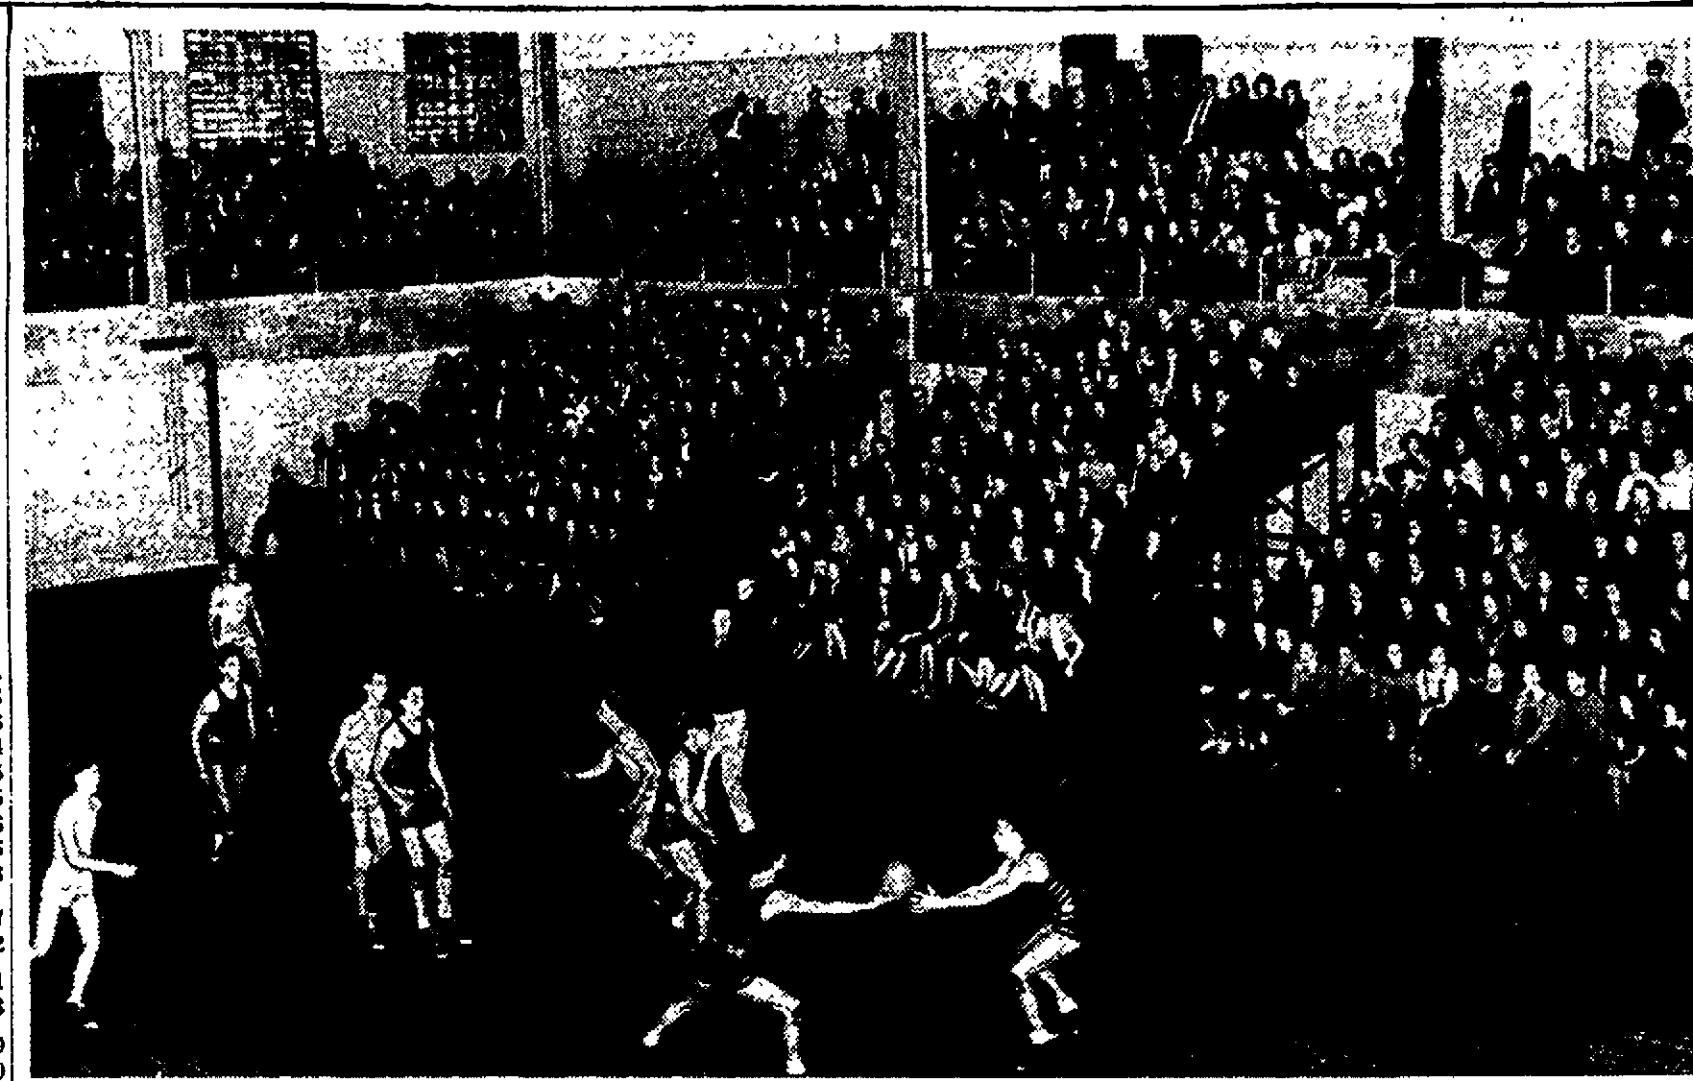

Coach Miron of the Dutchmen had to build a new team with the loss of Roger Koehn, Red Boots and Boney Verstegen, through graduation and has only three regulars to build around, Duce Weyenberg and E. Hammen, guards, and Melvin Van Asten, forward. Reserves of last season will comprise the rest of the squad with Connie Vanden Heuvel or Merlin Verstegen starting at center and Harold Derks or Jim Koehn getting the nod for the open forward position.

St. John has strong reserves with Woody McCabe, Gordy Lamers, Jerry Hietpas, Harold Vanden Heuvel and Gerry Peeters able to step in without weakening the squad.

At 7:15 the reserves of both schools will open hostilities. The varsity game goes on at 8:15.

Milwaukee—Seniors winding up their varsity careers with the Marquette football team this fall include Carl Siefert, tackle, and Ed Niemi, center, of the varsity, and Herb Anderson, end; Roy Hovel, guard, and Del Rider, fullback, of the reserves.

H. S. OPENS NEW GYM; BEATS ST. MARY

Appleton High school opened its new gymnasium to the public Wednesday evening when the Terror basketball team defeated Menasha St. Mary, 29-19, in the opening game of the season. The contest and the new gym attracted a husky crowd part of which is shown above just after the tip-off marking the beginning of the second half. People are standing in the balcony but at the same time it is obvious there is room in the bleachers. In the picture at the right, Bill Besch, Appleton center, is showing home a basket in the first half. Others who can be identified are No. 7, Griesbach, St. Mary; No. 20, Morris, Appleton; No. 15, Resch, St. Mary; Fraser, Appleton, and No. 10, Picard, St. Mary. (Post-Crescent Photos)

He has decisions over Nick Camratti, Frankie Wolfram, Mickey Genero, Jimmy Perrin, and lost a decision to Leo Rodak and Everette Rightmire. He boxed to a 10-round draw with Jackie Wilson, Pennsylvania champion, at Washington, D. C., in one of the greatest fights seen there in years.

Trojans Expect Bid to Rose Bowl

42 to 7 Triumph Over U. C. L. A. Hailed as Deciding Factor

Los Angeles—(AP)—Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes, to make a simple understatement of fact, soared higher than the moon today as followers of the Trojan warhorse continued to celebrate the 42 to 7 annihilation of the University of California at Los Angeles.

The Thanksgiving day triumph was hailed here as the clinching argument in Southern California's bid for the far west's Rose Bowl nomination.

The win left Southern California in a tie with the California Bears of Berkeley for the conference title, and the machinery was set up today for the conference to begin voting on which team will be selected to carry the colors of the far west into the annual Rose Bowl encounter.

Announced Monday
The result of the vote of the 10 members will not be announced until noon Monday, and both Trojan and California backers swung into high gear this morning in behalf of their respective claims.

Troy repeated its contention it should get the bid because the Trojans slapped over California, 13 to 7, and precedence holds that when two eleven tie for the title, the one that whipped the other should get the bid. That is S. C.'s argument.

California's answer is that it is the champion until dethroned, and points out that U. S. C. lost a non-conference game to Alabama in addition to its conference setback by Washington, and faces a tougher non-conference assignment in Notre Dame Dec. 3.

To which S. C. replies that conference rules state non-conference games have no bearing on the Rose Bowl selection.

Marion Cagers Whip Neopit Indian Squad

Marion — The Neopit Indians came to Marion Tuesday night, and played a basketball game with the Marion Athletic Club in the high school gym. The Indians lost by a score of 30 to 28.

The game was exciting and interesting as neither team had a lead of more than two points at any time. The Neopit boys played fast, clean ball but the long shots dropped by Foley and Verch of Marion were their upset with two minutes to go, Marion stalled to hold the two point advantage.

The box score:

Truckers Ready For First Battle

Clintonville — Friday night the Clintonville High school basketball quintet makes its 1938-39 debut in the Western division of the Northeastern conference when the New London Bulldogs invade the local gym. It will be the Truckers' first game; the Bulldogs already have one practice game to their credit. Clintonville is small and about the greenest team in the conference while New London will have a number of boys who last year coasted through the district tournament and then went on to the state meet.

This will be Coach "Swede" Johnson's first basketball game and with only two lettermen and one boy who saw service last year, it looks like a bad start. It will take a few weeks for the squad to round into shape but all the boys have possibilities and most of them will be back next season.

Coach Johnson has had his hands full trying to pick ten men to form the first squad but he has selected Bentley Greb, Don Colden, Herb Huffman, Art Drumm, Rich Ramsdell, Jim Billmeyer, Jack Martin, Oz Goerlinger, Lyle Roloff and Art Zemske. The starting lineup probably will see the last five boys. Roloff, one of the two lettermen, is a sophomore and last year saw considerable service at center. Friday night he will hold down the same position. Billmeyer and Zemske will be the forwards. In the back court, Martin and Goerlinger will team up at the guard positions.

Manawa Wallops Bear Creek, 40-19

Yohr Collects Eight Points During Non-Conference Tilt

Manawa — Manawa High school cagers walloped Bear Creek, 40 to 19, in a non-conference game at Manawa Wednesday night. Manawa started fast with a 15 to 1 lead in the first quarter and increased it to 19 to 3 at halftime. Manawa was on the big end of a 23 to 10 score at the end of the third stanza.

Yohr, Manawa guard, pumped in four baskets for eight points to lead the scoring for the winners while Hurler and Flanagan each counted six points for the Bear Creek squad.

Manawa reserves defeated the Bear Creek seconds, 30 to 10, and Manawa graders edged out the Bear Creek youngsters, 10 to 8, in preliminary tilts.

The box score:

Service Contest, Pitt-Duke Game Top Football Card

T. C. U. and S. M. U. Clash In South, Fordham-N. Y. U. in East

BY JUDSON BAILEY
NEW YORK—(P)—Maybe you thought the football season was about finished—and maybe you're about right—but in either event some of the choicest morsels remain to be fed to the fans.

Not out of "bowls" either, because at least half a dozen of the nation's foremost undefeated teams still must risk their precious necks in regularly scheduled encounters.

Four such games, topped by the Pittsburgh-Duke business at Durham, were on tomorrow's menu, competing with the pageantry of the otherwise meaningless Army-Navy spectacle.

Texas Christian faces a dangerous Southern Methodist crew in the Southwest conference. All bars are down, too, on the Oklahoma University tussle with Oklahoma A. and M. and Texas Tech's appointment with Marquette.

All of these women have been more or less reluctant about their post season plans but, in spite of denials that they care about invitations, Duke, Pitt and Texas Christian are all glowing prospects for any bowl and tomorrow's activities may determine in which direction each will entrain, if at all.

The second section of this week's football supplement is spotted with other attractive offerings—some of them so traditional as to make an old blue turn red.

Georgia Tech and Georgia, Fordham-N.Y.U., Washington-Washington State, Oregon-Oregon State, Baylor-Rice, Louisiana State-Tulane, Florida-Auburn and Boston College-Holy Cross all fall into this class.

The day's long-distance prize, no matter what the score, will go to the Dartmouth-Stanford rally at Palo Alto, Calif.

After the echoes of this shouting have faded away, fans still will have Notre Dame's annual skirmish with Southern California, Tennessee's southeastern conference contest with Mississippi and Oklahoma's tilt with Washington State to whet their interest—besides a sprinkling of their games right up until the big New Year's day blow-off.

St. Joseph Beats Sacred Heart '3

Golden Eagles Look Bad In First Game Of Season

St. Joseph cagers opened their season with a 31 to 3 victory over Sacred Heart in a non-conference game at St. Joseph hall Tuesday. Though winning by a big margin, the St. Joseph eighth graders gave a poor exhibition and showed the need of intensive drills for their opening Catholic boys conference game in December. The Sacred Heart quint was playing its first regulation game of basketball while the Golden Eagles have been playing three years.

Showing six of last year's reserves and five newcomers from this year's seventh grade, the Golden Eagles plunked 12 points in the first quarter against one for Sacred Heart. Each bucketed two points in the second period while St. Joseph counted 10 in the third stanza and 7 in the last frame.

Gevelinger and Dohr each caged three baskets for the winners while Meyer scored one for the losers.

U. W. Varsity to Meet Frosh Five

Wisconsin Cagers Will Make Their First Start Tonight

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin's basketball varsity gets its first test tonight when it meets the yearling team in a regulation game at the field house.

Coach Harold (Bud) Foster sent his first two teams through an intensive, two hour drill yesterday in preparation for the game with the freshmen, who were also drilled yesterday under Coach Gil MacDonald.

Foster used Byron Bell at center, Dave Dupce and Andy Smith, forwards, and John Rundell and Ernie Davis at the guard posts. The Badgers, who average around 185 pounds and six feet, one inch in height, are expected to work their scoring plays from "set" formations relying on basket sharpshooting and clever ball handling rather than speed.

The frosh first quintet is speedy and has several high school stars who are deadly from any angle at the hoop.

Wisconsin officially opens its season Dec. 2 against Beloit college at Madison and follows with Marquette here Dec. 5.

Lions Beat Bears To Crowd Packers

Detroit Can Qualify for Playoff by Defeating Eagles

Chicago—(P)—Knocking those Detroit Lions out of the National league title race, the Chicago Bears were ready to admit today, it is as tough a job as it once was to stop the Lions' manager, Earl (Dutch) Clark.

Clark, one of professional football's all-time greats, isn't playing regularly any more, but he's doing a great bit of piloting from the bench. Yesterday, as some 28,000 fans looked on at Detroit, he watched his Lions stay in the running for the Western division championship by defeating the favored Chicago Bears 14 to 7.

The victory advanced Detroit to within a single game of a tie with Green Bay for the western sectional title, which leads to a game with the eastern section winner for the all-league flag. Detroit can qualify for a playoff with Green Bay by defeating Philadelphia's Eagles Dec. 4.

New York Giants, eastern division pace setters, scored in the final period to tie Brooklyn's stubborn Dodgers, 7-7.

Cold, Snow Fail to Halt Influx of Fans For Army-Navy Tilt

Philadelphia—(P)—Snow stacked several inches deep at municipal stadium and frigid blasts whistling between the goal posts gave prospect today of a cold, bleak setting for one of football's most glamorous games—the annual Army-Navy battle.

Snow, rain, sleet and sub-freezing temperatures slowed but failed to halt the surge of hundreds of visitors into the city. Muffled to the ears, gay in defiance of the wintry winds, they jammed hotel lobbies, railroad stations and bus terminals. More than 105,000 were expected for the kickoff at 12:30 p. m. (CST) tomorrow.

"I'd sure love to win this game in my first year as coach," said Captain Bill Wood, Army's head coach. "I'll make no predictions, but you can bet it'll be a humdinger."

Navy's head coach, Lieutenant Hank Hardwick, proclaimed the middies "in fine spirits."

"The Army is going to have its hands full beating us if it does," he promised.

Seymour Highs Bow to Marion by 23-16 Count

Marion—The Marion Purgolds defeated the Seymour highs in the local gym Tuesday night in a non-conference game. The score was 23 to 16. The game was not very interesting as neither team could get the range of the basket and easy shots were missed by both sides. At the end of the first quarter Seymour was leading 2 to 0. Practically the same thing occurred in the second quarter with the score favoring the Purgolds 9 to 6.

In the second half Marion scored 14 points and Seymour 10. Denny March and Foate played well for Seymour with Meyer and Elandt the shining lights for Marion. Elandt scored 15 points on 6 field goals and 3 free throws.

The WORLD of STAMPS

BY THE AP FEATURE SERVICE
In Soerabaya and Denpasar this month the Javanese and the Dutch and the Balinese are buying and sticking on their letters an interesting pair of commemoratives which will probably be included in many airmail collections.

These stamps are not airmails, but mark the first decade of air service to the Dutch East Indies (Nederlandsche Indië) as the inscription "Tien Jaar Luchtvaart" indicates. The 17c is printed in brown, the 20c in gray, and both designs show the noses of huge modern air transports, each marked "KNILM." A small line of type in the bottom margin specifies that these adhesives are good for postage until November 30, 1938.

Theater in Saarbruecken
A view of the new Gauthier Saarpfalz, or theater of the Saarpfalz, or theater of the Saarpfalz district at Saarbruecken appears on two new semi-postals from Germany—a 6-pennig plus 4-pf green, and a 12-pf plus 8-pf red. This theater was opened October 9 when the stamps appeared, with their extra pennings destined for Hitler's culture fund. The printing process is photogravure, the designer, George Fritz.

From France come two smaller size lithographed stamps of a new design—Mercury's head and his hand holding his wand, the caduceus. The 10-centimes is printed in blue, the 20c in red violet.

U. S. Catalog, 1939
What particularly appeals to the average collector about the newly published 1939 edition of Scott's "Catalogue of United States Stamps Specialized" is of course the handsome size-and-a-half illustrations which are at long last legal. Editor Hugh M. Clark has again done a thorough, careful job of revision.

No new sections have been added this year, comparable to the Sanitary Fair division which made its advent last year. Additions and the insertion of the new illustrations have, however, increased the page numbers from 354 to 410. It is quite a contrast to the little handbook of 1923 which was the first edition of this popular and most useful specialized catalog.

Australia's Platypus
One of the creatures which marks Australia as a land apart, where evolution followed its own whimsical path, is the duck-bill, or platypus.

This strange little aquatic mammal has been known for some time to collectors of Australian revenues, but has only recently crawled into the strictly postal albums on a well-designed 9-penny Australian stamp printed in sepia by the engraving process.

No zoo collector will rest content until he corals a duck-bill, for it has a peculiar charm all its own. A bill like a duck's, heavy blackish-brown fur and five-toed webbed feet distinguish this animal. It is about 18 inches long, including its broad, flat tail, and is remarkably adept at swimming and diving. It eats mollusks, lives in waterside burrows and lays 2-inch eggs.

Another new adhesive from Australia, released Nov. 1, is the one-pound black-blue stamp of the larger size adopted for all Australian stamps of higher denominations. The style is orthodox and the central design shows portrait busts of the king and queen in full coronation regalia.

U. W. Economics Head Recalls Stormy Life in New Biography

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Forty-four years ago the nation and Wisconsin were in the throes of a deep and alarming depression. Unemployment and discontent reached new heights—for that day, 1894—and radical movements were rising and in the minds of many threatening to overwhelm the country. It was a year which saw many strikes, including the famous Pullman strike with its sensational and bitter results.

In that charged atmosphere broke one of the most unusual episodes which have ever been recorded in Wisconsin, the long famous "trial" of noted Professor Richard T. Ely, head of the school of economics at the University of Wisconsin, for socialism, anarchism, and sundry other social and economic heresies. Dr. Ely was then one of the youngest, and most unorthodox economists in the country. He had come to "wild and woolly Wisconsin" a few years before after turning down the most attractive teaching offers in the land and his academic friends in the east thought him silly to waste his time in primitive Wisconsin.

Was "Dangerous Man"
Dr. Ely had written, brashly, on Marxian socialism, which in those days was dynamite. He had conducted and written about labor investigations. He had attacked the corporate abuses in that day of the muckrakers. So to many of the timid souls of America he was a dangerous man.

His accuser was the accidental superintendent of public instruction, Oliver E. Wells, whose charges against the now internationally known economist have developed into his chief claim for a place in recent history.

Wells was elected in the turbulent election of 1892, the result of the offense which Republicans had given Catholics and Lutherans with their Bennett law which placed parochial schools under state supervision. The Democrats until that year were about as scarce as Republicans in Georgia. At their nominating convention, just before adjournment, someone suggested that a nominee for superintendent of public instruction was overlooked. The name of Wells, an obscure teacher, was put up and accepted.

And that year, one of the few times in Wisconsin history, Wisconsin Democrats carried an election. Wells became boss of the state school system, and almost immediately, with the aid of national journals, began his attack of Dr. Ely. Briefly sketched, then, Dr. Ely was brought before the board of regents to answer the accusations. Defended by the most brilliant lawyers in the state, presenting his numerous books and writings, and backed by the most distinguished folk in the country, he was exonerated.

At the end of the trial the regents issued a classic statement, including this historic clause: "Whatever may be the limitations which hamper inquiry elsewhere we believe the great state University of Wisconsin should ever encourage that continual and fearless sifting and winnowing by which alone truth can be found."

Engraved On Plaque
That sentence now is engraved on a huge bronze plaque at the entrance to the main building on the state university campus, the embodiment of what the university convokes to be its spirit, and a sentence which has been quoted all over the world as the ideal of a public university.

All this and more is brought back in one of the most important biographies of the year, especially for Wisconsin readers, "Ground Under Our Feet", the story of the life of Dr. Ely as written by himself and published by the MacMillan company.

Anyone in Appleton who has studied at college, or anyone who has read economics, knows Dr. Ely, for he wrote the textbooks. One of the great names at Wisconsin, he has in a long life been called a rebel, a heretic, a reactionary. Storms have raged about him at Madison and elsewhere. It is all told here in a fascinating book, how he made famous his "look and see" method, how he taught men like Woodrow Wilson, Albert Shaw, John R. Commons, and others now famous, how he dealt with and fought with the elder LaFollette, how he built up the state university's economics department, how he lived a long, an interesting, and an independent life.

It is a book which can be recommended unhesitatingly for all of its former students, and for most general readers. Particularly can it be recommended for Wisconsin readers.

FWD Girls' Club Holds Its November Meeting

Clintonville—The Four Wheel Drive Girls' club held its November meeting Tuesday evening at the Elwood Hotel, New London, where a Thanksgiving dinner was served to 20 guests. The affair was also a farewell party for one of the club members, Miss Noreen Tanner, who will be leaving the employ of the F. W. D. company on Nov. 30. Bridge was played during the evening, the honors going to Miss Tanner, Miss Louise Kant and Miss Malinda Schimke. The committee in charge of the party included: Mrs. Ethel Chandler, Miss Helen Welter, Miss Lillian Schunk and Miss Mildred Brackeb.

Queen Esther Division of the Methodist Ladies Aid society will be entertained Friday afternoon, Nov. 25, at the home of Mrs. H. E. DuFrane on Bennett street.

A dance will be given by the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges Friday evening, Nov. 25, at their hall in this city. A Weyauwega orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

A number of Clintonville deer hunters who returned home without a buck last Sunday left Thanksgiving day to spend the remainder of the week in the north woods.

Expect Governor Will Consolidate Welfare Boards

Believe LaFollette Will Name Director and 7-Man Commission

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison, Wis.—Progressive sources have been quoted as saying that Governor LaFollette, despite his earlier intentions to drop his capitol reorganization program because of his defeat for reelection, will soon issue an executive order consolidating the welfare department on the state level into a single department of social adjustment.

The new department would be an independent arm of the state government, governed by a seven-member advisory committee and a full-time director who could be paid up to $7,000 a year.

Move Approved
The centralization was approved early this year by the interim committee on reorganization, and approval was sent to LaFollette early in the summer. He delayed execution of the plan, however, and after his defeat was supposed to have decided against it.

The new department would include the welfare or relief department, the child welfare department, the state pension department, and a couple of minor functions of other state agencies in the field of social welfare.

The inclusion of the pension department in the plan doubtless caused the delay, for some persons are critical of the idea of lumping pension administration with general relief functions. That difficulty was given as one of the reasons why the LaFollette administration did not include the change in the reorganization acts which it sent to the legislature last session.

Counties Araid
If the new department is formed it will be the result of the work of the Citizens' Committee on Public Welfare, which after a long period of research and work two years ago recommended sweeping modernization of the state's ancient welfare laws and reorganization.

In other quarters the move, if consummated, will be dubiously received. County government spokesmen are fearful that state centralization of welfare work will be a prelude to a similar consolidation on the county level under state control. That they would avoid at all costs.

Its People and Products

Glenda Farrell—is the laziest person in the world by her own admission when it comes to sports. And the most ardent fan. Loves to watch a game of polo, tennis or football, or baseball—but shudders to think of herself as an active player. As far as the beach is concerned, it's just an elegant place for Glenda to loiter around in smart beach pajamas—and the surf is a nice thing to look at from a distance, say from beneath a colorful beach umbrella which matches her bathing suit.

Hollywood — Settlin' Around (RKO-Radio Pictures): Filmtown's bosses contend the movie industry is an infallible barometer reflecting every change in public taste. The contention always reminds me of that moss-covered gag, "Figures can't lie — but liars can figure." Undoubtedly, the public's reception of any picture is an indication of its current entertainment tastes — but, about nine times out of ten, Hollywood fails to read the barometer correctly.

A case in point: Today, watching the filming of chorus numbers for the new Astaire-Rogers film musical, "The Castles," I commented on the unusual beauty of the chorines and was assured that "It's due to the great change in public taste. Four years ago, with more than 2000 trained dancers available, musicals were so popular that every girl was working overtime and we had to take any of them that we were lucky enough to get. Today, with very few musicals in production we can pick and choose. When we put in a call for this picture, more than 600 girls applied for chorus work."

Most producers have concluded that musicals are no longer popular with the public. But I'm willing to give long odds that if "The Castles" is a good picture, fans will fight to see it. I don't believe audiences tired of musicals because they were musicals — I think they simply rebelled at the formula-tailored tripe that Hollywood turned out when the cycle was at its peak. The public has just one permanent movie preference. It wants Good pictures!

Chatter about RKO Idols: A few more years and a few less hairs and Fred Astaire will be perfect for "King of the Gnomes." Side-slicker: Edna May Oliver in front of a distortion mirror. Too bad more women can't be "frankly forty" as charmingly as Janet Beecher. Wonder if Bobby Brown would be improved by a session with the Dead Enders? Too many bad roles have given Paul Guilfoyle a haunted expression. At any Hollywood square dance, the "Ladies' Choice" would probably be Charles Boyer. Actor hardest to recognize off-screen: Perfect Lady in Frieda Innes-court. Say the name of RKO's new import, Maria Ouspenskaya, real fast and it sounds like a husky sneeze.

Hollywood's full of football fans—but none more fanatic than Nate Barrager, property man on "Pacific Liner." Nate, being an ex-gridiron star from the University of Southern California, invariably wears a wind-breaker with a football S. C. on its back. Today was the first time I'd seen him since his school was so ignominiously defeated by Washington University's Huskies. Nate refused to talk about it, but I got a laugh as he walked away. Above the big letters, S. C., he had printed, as a token of his disgust, "Automobile Club of."

Visted the "Love Affair" set and found everyone walking on tiptoes and talking in whispers—everyone, that is, but Charles Boyer, who sat in his canvas chair, dozing. The cameras were set-up for a scene, everything seemed ready—but, still the careful silence. "What the ...?" I started to ask—and was promptly buried under a volley of "shh..h..h..h..h..h" Irene Dunne took me aside. "It's Mr. Boyer," she explained in her softest whisper. "He's been suffering from insomnia!"

It's the human side of Hollywood that keeps me sold to the hit on this town. Today, for example, I stopped on the set where "The Great Man Votes" troupe was at work. It represented a New York side-street, completely "dressed" with pushcarts loaded with every variety of vegetable. The company was just calling it quits for the day and, as I stood chatting with John Barrymore, a group of workmen began packing the produce, carefully portioning in into ten lots. The job finished, the ten boxes were loaded on an RKO truck, ready to be delivered—Barrymore explained—to the families of the part-time workers the studio is trying to keep going until they can be re-established on the regular payroll. It's hard to

Services Held in East

For Mrs. William Clark
Weyauwega — Funeral services for Mrs. William Clark, the former Nellie Slowe, who died at Lawrence General Hospital, Methuen, Mass., were conducted Nov. 16. Burial was made in Elmwood cemetery, Methuen. The Rev. George F. Beecher, pastor of the First Calvary Baptist church, conducted the services. Mrs. Clark was born in Weyauwega 54 years ago and was a member of the local Royal Neighbor camp. Surviving are the widow; a daughter Cora; one brother William Slowe of International Falls, Minn., and two sisters, Mrs. Lucile Gasteel of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Hiram Bruley of Weyauwega.

condemn very harshly an industry that finds time for such gestures.

Doug Corrigan holds the spotlight at RKO these days. His fan mail, from air-minded kids who admire his courage, is tremendous. But I learned today that Mr. Corrigan is not proof against fear, after all. Before starting work in the picture, he stipulated that he would wear no make-up because he considers it "sissy." But, once Doug was before the cameras, the director had to apply make-up to cover the Wrong-Way hero's blushing. The intrepid flyer who braved a transatlantic crossing is scared stiff of a microphone and a girl!

THE ARMY POST MURDERS

By Virginia Hanson

keep in your car pockets, Elizabeth—big iron?"

His hand delved, brought something out.

Later I tried to remember who had been near the car; but Adam agreed with me that the yell had turned all eyes in our direction. Besides, anyone might have known Elizabeth carried a gun in her car, for clearly she had no thought of secrecy.

"Oh, I'm so sorry," she said sympathetically. "It should be on this side, where I can reach it. Father got it for me—and got me a permit too. The road to town is rather lonely, you know."

"That's true enough," Charlie admitted. "But the smart place to keep it is behind the seat; right here, see? That's where mine rides — my forty-five, that is. This thing's just a toy — thirty-two isn't it?"

"It's easier to handle and equally dangerous if you can shoot. I can, of course," she said matter-of-factly.

Again I say there's no explaining Elizabeth. An hour before I had placed her in the mauve decade. Now I was not so sure.

They talked firearms for a while and I was glad of a chance to sort my thoughts. Should I make an opportunity now to have it out with Charlie about Anne, or should I let events take their course and see how he behaved tonight?

After all, I could have been mistaken.

I was inclining toward the line of least resistance, though as a rule I like to get unpleasant things over in a hurry, when a sharp, involuntary "Oh!" repeated from a half-dozen throats drew my attention to the game, which had been resumed.

"He's Killed!"

Across the field a horse was down. Its heels thrashed wildly for a moment before it could get up. But the man lay still.

Voices babbled. Somebody shrieked, "He's killed! He's killed!"

Elizabeth said evenly, "Barney ran into him full tilt."

Charlie spilled out of the car and stood there clinging to it, gray around the mouth.

"It's Adam," he said as if he were praying. "And he's so brittle."

Barney had dismounted and picked Adam up in his arms as easily as he would a child. He stood looking wildly around, then turned and headed straight for us with his awkward burden.

I was on my feet outside the car without knowing how I got there. Charlie had gone loping across the field to meet them.

Suddenly a silent scream started somewhere down near my toes and climbed like an elevator, swelling as it rose, and all the time I wasn't making a sound — I wouldn't make a sound—I'd die first.

I saw Elizabeth standing on the other side of the car, turning back the cuffs of her linen dress. I didn't know why she did it—probably she wouldn't have known either; but it impressed me horribly. It was the last thing I saw, for the nightmare scream suddenly filled my whole consciousness and annihilated everything else. I've never been so ashamed. They had taken the seat cushion out of Elizabeth's car and I was lying on that when I came to. That was another thing nobody could remember about—later. Anyone might have taken the thirty-two; they were all there, milling around. I was more annoyed than relieved to recognize Adam's face above mine. He was pale and lustrelessly concerned, but very much alive. I broke all records getting on my feet, and I wouldn't let anyone help me.

"Never mind," said Adam consolingly, putting a friendly hand under my elbow. "You weren't hurt the spectacle I was. Imagine coming to about six feet in the air in the grip of a maniac who wouldn't let go because you were supposed to be dying. I kicked for all I was worth, with the result that when he finally let me down I was most ingloriously and publicly sick. At least you missed that."
